ANNUAL FIELD DAY

Athletic Sports a Feature at Newton Lower Falls Playground

The field day held last Monday on the Lower Falls Playground under the auspices of the Newton Lower Falls Athletic Association and the Community Club, was crowned with success. Although athletic games were a prominent part in the day's celebration, the attractive booth conducted by the young ladies of the Community Club and the dancing pavilion were both largely patronized.

Many of Newton's foremost athletes took part in the games, and all of the events were close and exciting, the day adding much to the enjoyment of the program. In the morning the Newton Lower Falls girls met the Newton girls in a five inning baseball contest, the game ending in a 1-0 earned victory for the home players.

7 to 5. Basketball was the line of sport set up by the girls in the afternoon, the West Newton Playground team lined up matters for the defeat given in baseball by winning 13 to 5. The game provided many thrills, the playing and blocking of both teams being up brilliantly. The lineup of West Newton team was Flora Cooney lf, Alice Saunders rf, Mary McNeil lc, Catherine Taffie cf, Margaret Langan rc, Annie Blerue lg, Mary Langan rg and the Lower Falls team comprised Edith Healey rg, Ida White Theresa Langley rc, Marion Guild Annie O'Neill lc, Bessie Cooney rf, Nora Cooney lf.

The final heat of the 100 yd. dash, for all athletes, was very close, Webb finishing first, Adams second, Webb, Brownville and McKenna tied for the third position. Adams set back three feet for fouling, in getting before the gun, and finished in a foot of O'Neill. The three tied place men tossed up for the position, which Webb won.

The half mile run was easily won by H. Burrage, but three men finishing of a field of nine. Burrage had a commanding lead that he walked the latter part of the race. The quarter mile run was won by Owen Webb after a grueling race, leading the Irving across the tape by a few feet. The race told on Webb, as he was unable to enter the mile run, which had entered.

The special 100 yd. dash for members of the Athletic Association, Joseph took first honors, George Ranney second and James Curry third. The mile run—won by H. S. Boyd, R. H. Burrage second; R. Barron third.

MR. WILLIAM A. DONALD DEAD
Mrs. Cornelia P. Donald, wife of William A. Donald, a retired wool merchant, died at Chestnut Hill Tuesday morning at the age of sixty-four years. Both Mr. and Mrs. Donald had been ill for some time and in July were removed from the family residence in Marlboro street to Chestnut Hill in the hope that the change would benefit them. Mr. Donald himself was still a very ill man.

Mrs. Donald before her marriage was Cornelia Perry Howes, daughter of the late Osborne Howes, a ship merchant, and she was born in Boston. Her mother was Abba Crowell, both the father and mother came from Cod families. Her early education was obtained at private schools.

passing R. H. Burrage at the 7/8 mark, gave him first place in that event. The officials of the games were Lewis Connolly, starter; Edward Healey, clerk of course and A. F. The winning battery was Whalen and Dempsey, while the battery for the Catholic Club was Buckley and Conner. The score by innings was as follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Lower Falls A. A.	0	0	0	1	0	3	0	0	0	4

Goodson, Edward Healey, John S. Higgins, Alfred Murray, John J. O'Neill, Daniel F. Warren. The committee representing the Community Club comprised the Misses Marion Niles, Mary Anderson, Nellie Cooney, Alice Calne, Mary Cooney, Ethel Cooper, Gertrude Dunleavy, Edith Early, Frances Fitzgerald, Alice Gleason, Nellie O'Neill and Helen Warren. notably the Friends' School in Providence, and later at one in New York city. She was married to Mr. Donald in 1871 and during her life she kept up an active interest in many of the leading philanthropies. She long was a director in the District Nursing Association, and her interest also extended to St. Monica's Home for Colored Women, the Calhoun Club and the Colburn Home for Aged People at Ipswich of which she also was a director.

Besides her husband Mrs. Donald is survived by three children, Mrs. Frank W. Halliwell of Chestnut Hill, whose husband is a member of the wool firm of Halliwell, Jones & Donald, Gordon Donald, who succeeded his father as an active member; and Malcolm Donald of Mattapan, a lawyer in Boston.

DEFEATED AT LAST

Newton Y. M. C. A. Beats Upper Falls Ball Nine

The strong base ball team of the Upper Falls Athletic Association which, by virtue of defeating the Newton Catholic Club, in a recent series of games, had claimed the ball championship of the city, was defeated last Monday morning on its own grounds by the Newton Y. M. C. A. team. This team which has been trying all the season to arrange a game with the Upper Falls nine, was finally accommodated with the opportunity, the latter team, it is said taking the attitude that the game was considerable of a concession on its part. The result proved that the Newton team could not only hit the famed Estelle, but had a pitcher in Bills who could hold his own against their strongest batters. The score was 2 to 1, the home nine getting 4 hits off Bills while 5 were made off Estelle.

The defeat was particularly unpalatable to the Upper Falls nine as it had just finished winning 20 straight games and had visions of going the entire season.

In the afternoon, on the Upper Falls playground, the Athletic Association again struck its winning gait by defeating West Roxbury, 3 to 0. In this game, Fahey, who pitched for Upper Falls achieved the honor of pitching a no-hit no-run game. In addition to preventing a hit by his opponents, he also refused to give a base on balls. This is the second time, it is said that Fahey has pitched a no-hit no-run game.

BASEBALL

Owing to the cancelling of the game with South Boston, there will be no game on the Upper Falls Playground on Saturday. Upper Falls A. A. will play at Winchester.

HOLIDAY SCHEDULES

A business man living in a town eight miles from Boston desires information and, naturally, has written to this newspaper in order to obtain it. These are his queries:

Who arranges the holiday schedules for the suburban trains? Why does he do it? How does he escape?

Holiday schedules for suburban trains are not "arranged." They are disarranged, which is an entirely different proposition. It is done for the purpose of convincing incredulous commuters that conditions can be even worse, and easily worse, on holidays than they are on week days and Sundays.

Nobody in authority has ever admitted responsibility for the holiday schedules of suburban trains. It is believed, however, that the official disarranger has deep interest in the success of the trolley lines and that his secondary purpose in disarranging the train schedules for holidays is to transfer to the street cars as much of the steam railroad traffic as the street cars can carry.—Boston Traveler.

Thought They Were Natural.

Tommy—"You're a coward. My brother made faces at you yesterday, and you didn't dare to fight him. You pretended you didn't know he was makin' faces." Eddie—"I didn't, neither. I thought they was natural, like yours!"

MR. BROWN DEAD

Mr. George Henry Brown, a resident of Newton for the past forty years and well known in musical circles in this vicinity, died Wednesday about midnight at his home on Eldredge street, Newton, following a few days' illness with pneumonia.

Mr. Brown was a native of Boston and was nearing his 76th birthday. He was a son of Edwin and Sarah Brown, his father being a member of the firm of Brown and Allen, piano manufacturers. He was a lover and student of music all his life, the organist for 27 years at the First Church of Newton Centre, the composer of considerable music and was in charge of the pianos at Wellesley College for the past 30 years. He was a life member of Dalhousie Lodge of Masons, of Newton Royal Arch Chapter, and of Gethsemane Commandery, K. T., and a member of Adoniram Council, R. & S. M. of Waltham, and for many years was the organist at all masonic meetings in this city.

Mr. Brown was of a quiet and retiring nature, a lover of his home and friends and will be sadly missed by many. He is survived by a widow and one daughter, Miss Caroline B. Brown. Funeral services will be held from his late residence on Eldredge street, tomorrow afternoon at 2.00 o'clock.

GREAT SUCCESS

Lieutenant Governor Walsh Present at Field Day of Catholic Union

The field day held last Monday on Moran's Field, Watertown street, under the auspices of the recently organized Catholic Union of Newton, was far more successful than the members had anticipated, fully 6000 people visiting the affair during the day. The day was ideal for the affair, the bright sun showing up the profusely decorated booths, which the various girls' clubs had arranged, and which assisted materially in the success of the day.

The affair netted the Union a considerable amount, which will be devoted to obtaining permanent quarters in the Newton section. Already a committee is at work in choosing a site on which to erect a clubhouse, and a report from them will probably be submitted to the members for approval within a short time.

Among the interested spectators of the day was Lieut. Gov. David I. Walsh, who was given a rousing reception by the large gathering on his completion of a brief address, in which he congratulated the youthful members on the interest which they have taken in the organization. Judge Thomas P. Riley of Malden, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, also spoke, and he, too, was very well received. Both speakers were introduced by President Thomas J. Murphy of the Union.

The crowd began to arrive on the grounds shortly after noon, and the attractive list of entertainment which was arranged kept all interested throughout the day. In a large tent erected at one end of the grounds, a vaudeville show, in which members of the Union were the entertainers, proved to be one of the most successful attractions of the day.

Besides the vaudeville show, an African Dodge, Grab Bags, Ringing Dishes, Breaking Dishes, Hoop-La, Canes and numerous other attractions were very popular with the younger people. A band concert was given in the afternoon by Post 26, G. A. R. Band, and in the evening the large dance board erected on the grounds was a big drawing card.

The summary of the athletic events was as follows:

100-yard dash for boys—Won by J. Burns, T. Boudrot second.

75-yard dash for girls—Won by Margaret Considine, Josephine Haley second.

150-yard dash for boys—Won by Frank Hayes, T. Boudrot second. Married woman's race—Won by Mrs. Mabel Sheehan, Mrs. Fred Roy second.

Fat man's race—Won by Charles Smith, Edward Myers second.

A feature of the field day was the interest taken by the various girls' clubs, each being represented by a table, which was decorated with their club colors. The Imelda Club conducted the Chinese Laundry, and the other clubs each conducted a refreshment table. The clubs that took part in the affair were:

MAY-STEVENS

The residence of Judge William B. Stevens of the Superior Court, 177 Main street, Stoneham, was the scene of a brilliant and largely attended home wedding last evening. Miss Frances Osgood Stevens, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Stevens, was married at 7.30 by Rev. E. S. Treworgy of the Unitarian Church to Mr. Kenneth Sargent May of Newton. The color scheme of the house decorations was yellow and white.

The bride was attended by her twin sister, Miss Mary Burnham Stevens, as bridesmaid. Guy Carleton Hawkins of Lancaster was best man. Miss Amy Valli of Oradell, N. J., a niece of the groom, was flower girl, and her brother, Edward Valli, was ring bearer.

The bride wore white charmeuse trimmed with princess lace. The bridesmaid's gown was of blue chiffon over blue crepe de chine. The wedding march was played by Miss Helen Elizabeth French of Clinton. A reception followed.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—At the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, Miss May Irwin, on next Monday, will begin the second week of her engagement in "Widow by Proxy," the funniest piece this popular comedienne has had in years. The reception accorded Miss Irwin on her opening performance was another tribute of the remarkable esteem in which she is held by new England theatre-goers. The play in which she is appearing is brand new, full of bright, breezy and snappy dialogues, and never lags for a single moment. Miss Irwin is supported by an unusually competent company including Clara Blundick, Alice Johnson, Helen Weatherly, Helen Orr Daly, Orlando Daly, Joseph Woodburn, Pell Trenton and Arthur Bowyer. You can send in your order for seats by making checks payable to Fred E. Wright, with the assurance that it will be given the strictest attention. The usual Thursday and Saturday matinees are held. Miss Irwin's engagement is for four weeks only.

GLOUCESTER EXCURSION DAILY

Up along the North Shore route by the boats of the Gloucester line is an experience worth taking any time one is within reach of the north side of Central wharf, foot of State street. The starting time is 10 A. M., weekdays, and 10.15 sharp Sundays and holidays. The rugged charms of Cape Ann and quaint old Gloucester at this season of the year are particularly delightful. Enough time is given one at the fishing city to give a splendid idea of what the great fishing industry is like.

IN THE FITTING ROOM

By OLIVE WENGLER.

"No, I have not been waiting very long. At least, it has not seemed long, for I have my book with me, and I can even forget clothes when I have a good novel. Yes, I almost always take a book with me when I go for a fitting, and, really, the books I have got through with while waiting for dressmakers would fill a library."

"It's funny how some of my dresses suggest certain books. I never put on my lavender chiffon without thinking of 'Buried Alive.' By brown velvet is associated with 'Under the Greenwood Tree.' I just can't bear to wear an old white robe of mine, because it reminds me of the sad end of 'Anna Karenina.'"

"Oh, is that my dress? I thought mine was a lighter shade of blue. I think this dark blue makes my eyes looked kind of washed out. But never mind; I can wear a jabot next to my face and that will relieve the strong color."

"No, don't make it too hobby. I may be old fashioned, but I do like a dress that I can walk in and sit down in, though I know it's the style now to have your dresses made so that you can do either."

"I have a friend whose new spring suit is so tight about the ankles that she simply can't take a step without holding it up. She says she doesn't care, for her shoes are so tight that there's no comfort in walking in them, so she might as well sit still. I think women are perfect geese about clothes, or, rather, they are like sheep, and where one goes the others follow."

"Well, I think you have got that skirt a little bit too full. One doesn't want to be so old fashioned that one looks like a scarecrow, and, of course, this is an easy dress to hold up in case I can't walk in it easily."

"Don't you ever get tired of sticking pins into women? Or, rather, don't you ever long to stick pins into them instead of just into their clothes? That would give them something to be fuss about. I often wonder that we don't hear of shocking crimes committed in fitting rooms by maddened modistes. So far as I know, no woman has ever met with foul play when she went for a fitting. It seems strange, too."

"This reminds me of my book. I had just got to an awfully exciting

SONG IN THE NIGHT

By JAS. WILLIAM JACKSON.

The young lieutenant crouched in the mud of the gully. Every man of the squad was wearied to the limit of endurance, and the leader was burdened with a terrible responsibility. The enemy was close at hand and absolute silence imperative. The colonel, a few hours before, had detailed this little force to cut out a detachment of the enemy.

For hours they had plowed through the mud, eager for the encounter. Before darkness fell the discovery was made that the enemy numbered four times as many men as supposed. It would be madness to hope for more than a drawn battle, the lieutenant reflected; and yet—the colonel had given his orders. At daylight the commander would march on the assumption that the work was done.

"I can't go back and say I was afraid," the boy told himself; "but it would be murder to charge with this little band. If I had to think only of myself—"

There was another hour before he need act.

"And I wonder," he thought, in a listless way, "I wonder where she is tonight?"

A few hundred yards behind the gully loomed up an old mansion. As the men now lay in silence, save for the dreary, pattering purl of the rain and the slushing of mud as one changed his position slightly, a light shone out across the wet field from a window of the house. A moment later the distant, sweet tones of a piano were audible. The lieutenant heard the opening chords with a sense of their familiarity.

Some one began a song. The words were not distant; not even the music was sharply defined at that distance. But as the song proceeded, coming out into the night with a mystic sweetness and power, the lieutenant remembered its mesmeric harmony.

Grant called to mind a certain day before his uniform grew ragged. The settings of the song then had been a fine old room, a glorious woman, a fascinating voice. It was not a song that lulled; it thrilled and lifted—high and higher it exalted, until the impossible seemed easy to grasp.

As the song proceeded the lieutenant felt the full strength of its quickening impulse; and gradually he put away from himself the weak and unnerving despondency. Almost before the last note died away on the night he had the squad afoot, confident that his own spiritual intoxication was shared in some measure by his followers.

Just beyond the woods a faint indication of a sentry was discerned in a half defined shadow.

The little band, deploying, came out of the deeper shadows in a long line, ranged against the whole face of the opposing force.

At that instant just one thrilling "Charge!" was ordered. It came from the lieutenant, and it was keyed in the sharp, entrancing harmony of the song.

It was over soon. The charge itself became a wild pursuit. The lieutenant still led the way until the sword slipped from his fingers and he sank headlong into the soft mud and lay still, while his men hurried on.

It was hours after, and another day, when the lieutenant's eyes opened with intelligence. For a few minutes his glance ranged about a sunny room in a questioning way. From the couch where he lay he could see but part of the room; and as he strove to turn himself a quiet figure came quickly straight up into those of a woman.

There came another wondering question into his glance and a great glad astonishment to find her there. But his lips formed a different query.

"The fight?" he asked, weakly, and with the brevity of spent strength.

"Your colonel is here," she said, with a smile, as she drew a little nearer, "and he bids me say that this day surely makes you a captain and a hero."

"And the men—my men?" he begged.

"Two wounded—and yourself; nothing worse," she replied, softly.

"It was the song we heard in the rain and the night," he told her, in a whisper.

"Last night, it thrilled me to conquer an army, if need be; and now it makes me bold for myself. Last night I cursed the fates that took me from you before I could tell you how I cared for you. I would have lost that fight—heaven forgive me! I would have murdered my men in my weakness and homesick longing. It was your song, that wonderful song, which gave me strength; and it gives me courage now to brave your verdict—to tell you that I love you better than anything in all this world. Are you glad? Say you are."

"I am glad," she murmured, with a world of earnestness. "The song was all for you. I was thinking of you through it all."

She looked at him with great-eyed pride for an instant. Then she laid her cheek on his pillow. One cool, soft hand stole to his face and the white fingers rested on his lips.

"I was trying to bring you back," she whispered, "to tell me—that—you cared."

Don't Make It Too Hobby.

part in 'Clayhanger' when you came in. It was where the hero suddenly learns that the girl he's engaged to has just married another man, and I am crazy to know why she did it. But probably I will be as long in finding out as I will in getting this dress. I have learned that there are two classes of people who never can hurry, and they are novellists and dressmakers. Really, though, they both give one such delicious suspense that one doesn't mind the waiting.

"Make the collar a little tighter, please; I like my collars very tight and very high, for my neck is so long. Yes, you may make the skirt two inches from the floor; that's one thing I won't do, and that is clean up Chicago streets with my dresses. It really makes me ill to hear women rave about sanitation and hygiene, and go into fits about microbes in unwrapped bread, while all the time they are defying the rules of health and gathering up all the microbes in sight with their long skirts."

"No, I'm not a bit tired, thank you. I know that some women always get faint when they are being fitted, but somehow it seems to brace me up."

"Perhaps this is because my book sort of fortifies me for a fitting. But I know I shall never wear this dress without thinking of that unhappy hero. I do hope that he will turn out well, so that I may have some pleasant thoughts about my gown while I'm wearing it."

"Oh, yes, I'm sure the dress will turn out well, and you needn't mind if it is a wee bit hobby—just enough to allow me to take decent steps. You will try and send the dress tomorrow night? Well, good morning."

"Oh, I mustn't forget my poor 'Clayhanger.'"—Chicago Daily News.

EDITORIAL

By making the appointment of additional election officers from members of the Progressive party, Mayor Hatfield places the responsibility of incurring nearly $1000 additional expense upon the board of aldermen, as confirmation of these appointments would require that amount for their pay.
I do not believe this expense is justified. There is no complaint from any party or any citizen even, that avoidable errors are being made in our election returns, and politics has never raised its head in this respect in this city. The additional men would have no work to perform as the present election officers are required by law to do certain specific things and the Progressive representatives could only look over their shoulders.
The Progressive party leaders should be in better business than making a raid on the city treasury for the sum of $832, for which neither the city nor any citizen can see any adequate return.

Patrons of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company greatly appreciate the courtesy and attention given them by the veteran starter in Nantantum Square, Mr. Carl Corruith.
His presence makes for comfort and convenience of the travelling public and prevents the hasty pulling out of cars by impatient conductors. His services are so highly esteemed that the Company might consider the desirability of keeping him in the square for the entire year and not for the summer months only.

Mr. James H. Hustis, the new president of the New Haven railroad will have the sympathy of his friends in the cloud cast over the beginning of his administration by the terrible accident at North Haven.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Mike Lapuchi of 33 North Bennett street, Boston, was arrested last Monday by Patrolman McNeill in the Chestnut Hill section on the charge of the larceny of fruit and corn from the Ward estate. He appeared in court Tuesday and a fine of $5 was imposed by Judge Kennedy.

The arrest of William H. Petersans early this week in Brookline cleared up the three breaks in the Chestnut Hill section, which occurred a few weeks ago. The Newton police recovered the goods stolen from the home of A. Winsor Weld, 47 Suffolk road, and the man admitted that he entered the homes of George C. Warren, 41 Middlesex road and Walter H.
Seavey, 17 Suffolk road. The police will probably recover the goods stolen from the two latter places this week.

Thomas C. Alexander of 1576 Cambridge street, Cambridge, was fined $10 last Tuesday morning by Judge
Kennedy on the charge of overspeeding along the Commonwealth avenue boulevard. He paid.

Lieut. Robert Harrison of the Police Department started Wednesday on his annual vacation. Sergt. Bernard F. Burke will fill the vacancy at headquarters nights during his absence.

Judge Kennedy imposed a fine of $4
on Tony Fallan of 77 West street, Nonantum Wednesday morning for stealing four peaches from an estate on Adams street. The man was plucking the fruit shortly after 4 o'clock in the morning when Patrolman Cronin spied him, and placed him under arrest.

The local police arrested Emil C.
Eckman of 29 Woodbine street, Auburndale, early this week for the needham police, the charge against him being the larceny of a rooster and eight hens of a valuable breed from a Needham farm.

CRYSTAL WEDDING

A company of friends and relatives

Monday evening at the residence of

The house was tastefully decorated with a profusion of autumn flowers and in the dining room, where a collation was served, the decorations were green and yellow, ferns and golden rod being arranged with pleasing effect.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving were assisted in receiving by Miss Annie Noden. A which they are held by their many friends.

Lawrence, Mansfield, Boston and the Newtons.

NEWTON MAN PRAISED

The Charlestown Veteran Firemen's Association never had a more capable foreman for its engine than the foreman of the present administration, Peter V. Hoseney of Newton is a practical man, with a thorough knowledge of master engines, and has worked many of them with success upon the muster field. His captaincy of a trial of machines is marked by clearness, cool-headedness and fine judgment. He was instrumental in achieving unusual results with Veteran engine at the last Lowell muster and has unbounded faith in the local hand-tub, believing with sufficient men on the brakes and proper schooling of the same by frequent trials beforehand the old machine can again take its place among the front-rankers of the league.—Charlestown Enterprise.

from which town he came to Boston

ens. As a young man he learned the piano business and became familiar with the manufacture of instruments, but before devoting his time entirely to the piano trade he was interested in the sale of sewing machines. For several years he was with the Boylstonstreet piano house of C. C. Harvey Company, and two years ago associated himself with the Bates Mitchell Piano Company. Mr. Stevens is survived by his wife, who was Mary Boothby of Kennebunkport, Me., and two sisters. He had made his home at

FOR THE WINTER DAYS

METHODS OF PUTTING UP ALLWAYS POPULAR APPLE.

Canned, They Are a Welcome Addition to the Cold Weather Menu—Preserved Crab Apple—Ingredients with Apple Butter.

Canned Apples—Peel one-half peck of tart apples, cut them in quarters and remove cores; as soon as prepared, put the apples into cold water to which the juice of one lemon has been added. Have ready five pints of syrup, put the apples into five quart jars, fill them up with the syrup, close tightly, and place the jars in a boiler with the water coming to within an inch of the top of them, and cook about twenty minutes.

For the syrup, put three and one-half pounds of sugar and two and one-half pints of water in a preserving kettle, stirring until nearly boiling and always removing the scum that rises. Use as directed.

Preserved Crab Apple—Remove cores from two quarts of sound crab apples, using a small apple corer; then immediately drop the apples into cold water to keep them from discoloring. Put into a preserving kettle two pounds of sugar and one pint of water; let the syrup boil a few minutes, removing scum the while, and then put in the apples, letting them boil until tender without losing shape. Put the apples carefully into jars, fill these up with the syrup, seal and set away.

Apple Butter—Wash and cut up without peeling one-half peck of tart apples; put them in a preserving kettle, adding one quart of cider; cover the kettle and boil the fruit until tender. When cooked, remove the fruit from the fire and rub it through a sieve; return the pulp to the kettle, place it over a slow fire and boil it thirty minutes, stirring all the while. Then measure the pulp, and to each quart put two cups of sugar; also add one-half teaspoonful each of ground cloves and cinnamon and boil twenty minutes. Put the sauce into stone or glass jars and seal them tightly.

Apple Sweet—Peel and cut one-half peck of large sweet apples into halves or quarters and drop them at once into cold water; then place them in a preserving kettle, covering them only with water, and boil until tender. Then remove the apples from the kettle and lay the pieces so as not to break them up on a large flat platter. In the meanwhile place two pounds of sugar and two pints of water over the fire, adding the juice and peel of two large lemons. When the syrup boils put in the apples and cook them five minutes more. Fill the jars with syrup after the apples are in them and seal.

Ginger Apples—Peel one-half peck of medium-sized tart apples and cut them into quarters; remove cores and drop apples at once into cold water, adding the juice of one lemon. Pick over and wash two ounces of green ginger and then cut it up into small pieces.

Place the preserving kettle with three pounds of sugar and one quart of water over the fire, drop in the ginger and boil five minutes; then put in the apples and cook them until a straw will pierce them easily. Remove the apples with great care from the kettle and put them in the same manner into the jars, continuing to boil the syrup for ten minutes after the fruit has been taken out. Fill the jars to overflowing with the syrup, cover, and set them upside down until cold. Instead of green ginger, one-half ounce of tincture of ginger may be used.

Help in Peeling Onions.

The merest bliffet from a Chicago cowworker takes another pebble (and not a tiny bit!) out of the path.

"Before beginning to peel onions, grease your finger tips liberally with butter or lard or dripping. Then grasp the knife and go on with the dreaded job! Not a trace of odor from the onion or garlic will cling to your hands, provided, of course, that you avoid handling the onion with any part of them except the fingers."

Banana Soup.

Mash six ripe bananas, then rub them through a sieve; add twice as much cold milk, sweeten to taste, add a pinch of salt and the grated rind of one lemon; bring to boiling point, then add one heaping teaspoonful of arrowroot or cornstarch mixed smooth with a little cold milk; stir till boiling, then allow to cook for eight minutes, stirring constantly; let cool, then add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and place on ice. Serve in bouillon cups.

Canned Pineapple Fritters.

Drain the slices of pineapple from the sirup in the can; sprinkle with kirsch and let stand an hour, then dry on a cloth. Dip the slices, one at a time, in fritter batter and fry in deep fat to a delicate amber tint. Drain on soft paper. Serve at once with a hot sauce made of the sirup from the can.

Baked Potatoes.

Thoroughly wash 12 good sized potatoes, make a few small slits in them, but do not peel. Place in a paper bag with one tablespoon of water; cook from 40 to 50 minutes, according to size.

Vinegar for Lamp Burners.

Boil your lamp burners in weak vinegar to clean them and the light will be much clearer.

TREMONT TEMPLE

That the motion picture drama has cut a big figure in the theatrical world is evidenced by the astonishing success achieved by "Les Miserables," Victor Hugo's wonderful story, presented in motion photography at the Tremont Temple. The production is absorbingly interesting and rings true to the narrative of this universally read novel. The story is presented in four acts comprising nine reels that form the nucleus of a series of tense and exciting scenes the like of which have never before been witnessed. One of the spectacular elements is the barricade scene during the rebellion of 1832, when the working classes poured into the streets of Paris barricading themselves against the troops. These pictures are not merely an enjoyable entertainment. They permit a wider familiarity with a world-famous story. On next Monday will start the second week of the engagement, which is scheduled to remain for a limited time only. There will be daily matinees and a popular scale of prices, 25c, 35c and 50c will prevail.

NORUMBEGA PARK

Under the appropriate sporting title of "The Happy Hunters," a musical comedy full of humorous complications and clever features, is the attraction at Norumbega's famous theatre this week and judging from the crowded attendances is proving very popular. Matthew Ott has woven a delicious comedy around an outing by a party of hunters whose experiences happened to be pretty strenuous before they were fairly settled in their first camp. An excellent cast of players present the merry dances, novel figures and pretty musical numbers of which the show abounds. The usual feature motion pictures are presented every evening. Sunday evening an excellent concert has been arranged with new motion pictures.

Next week an all star vaudeville programme is the offering with features which are sure to please Norumbega's thousands of patrons. The Grape Arbor Cafe, with its orchestra, is the ideal place to dine, while the other first-class amusements are very popular.

MARDI GRAS CARNIVAL AT REVERE BEACH

The famous Diving Horses, King and Queen, have created a furor at Revere Beach. Every performance is witnessed by thousands of interested persons who marvel at the remarkable intelligence displayed by these wonderful animals. Only the other afternoon King refused to ascend the incline which leads to the platform from which he dives and no amount of urging would induce him to do so and Queen stood steadfastly by her mate. The attendant realized at last that everything was not all right and upon investigation, discovered that one of the main supports was not in place. If King had mounted the incline he undoubtedly would have fallen. We are told that this is one of many similar cases which aptly illustrates the superior intelligence of these remarkable animals.

On next Monday evening will be given the first celebration of the Mardi Gras festival. The pageant will start at Revere street and proceed along the Reservation in the direction of Eliot Circle. The Parade will start promptly at 8.00 P. M. on the evenings of Sept. 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13.

The floats have been finished and the indications are that they are far more beautiful than any others seen in this section of the country.

COUNTY FAIR

Unique Entertainment Being Planned at West Newton For Next Month

Some plants only flower once in a hundred years. West Newton flowers this year into a county fair, the first within the memory of man. This relaxation West Newton is going to grant itself on October 2 and 3 and 4 of this year. The generations who lived before this one died without seeing a West Newton County Fair. But the ladies of the Second Church in Newton have arranged to give our generation the time of its life on the site of the new parish house on the sites mentioned above. Like the flower of a hundred years, the like has never been seen before and the like will never be seen again. With the assistance of the United Fruit Company there will be a Tropical Booth ornamented with oriental palms and dotted plants from Jamaica and the Orient. It will be possible for thousands to see there for the first time a growing coconut palm with the fruit upon it. An attempt is being made for educational purposes to bring to our northern clime many rare forms of oriental fruit and vegetables never before seen in these parts.

Special arrangements are being made to cater to out-of-town automobile parties, for whom there will be supper and tea rooms, as well as accommodation for their machines.

A notable horse-show is being planned and many entries are already being secured.

For the children there will be a costume party and a pet-stock show in which dogs, cats, rabbits, birds, parrots, ponies, mice, and all forms of pets can be displayed.

The art-exhibit, the foreign-exchange, the athletic contests, the Indian and Mexican displays, the candy-table will add zest to the necessary and useful booths filled with aprons, bags and articles of household utility.

A play will be given by the Criterion Club of Brookline, and there will be numerous shows and exhibitions of both educational and amusing qualities.

The world has been ransacked for articles and ideas and everyone is invited to partake in the result.

The grounds just above West Newton Railway Station have been specially prepared for the occasion, a strong committee on weather has been appointed and a good and useful time for the whole city is anticipated.

MR. LEACH DEAD

Mr. William H. Leach of Bridgeport, Conn., died Saturday night at the residence of his father-in-law, Mr. George Pote on Peabody street, Newton after a painful illness of over two years duration. Mr. Leach was employed as a research engineer by the Union Metallic Cartridge Co. of Bridgeport, Conn., for 14 years, following his graduation from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1897 and was an expert in his profession. His illness was the direct result of his work over mercury and other poisonous substances in his efforts to provide a safer form of ammunition. He was also the inventor of several improvements in fire arms. Mr. Leach was born in Brooklyn, N. Y. 40 years ago and was a member of the University Club of Bridgeport and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He married Miss Ethel Pote, 11 years ago and is survived by her and one daughter.

Mr. Leach was a man of high character and made many friends who sincerely mourn his untimely death.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Pote residence, Rev. Harry Lute of Channing Church officiating and the interment was at Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, Wednesday.

MISS WEEKS BETTER

Miss Katherine S. Weeks, the only daughter of Senator and Mrs. John W. Weeks of West Newton was operated on at the Newton Hospital for appendicitis about midnight last Friday, following a hurried trip from Cape Cod, where she had been visiting. The operation was successful and Miss Weeks is as comfortable as could be expected. Senator Weeks, who was tending to his duties at Washington, was summoned here by telephone and arrived Saturday and after visiting his daughter returned the next day to Washington.

SECOND—FARWELL

The wedding of Mr. Beverly Gordon Secord of Oakland street, Newton, and Miss Ethel May Farwell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Farwell, took place last Tuesday evening at the home of the bride on Highland avenue, Fitchburg, which was attractively decorated by friends of the bride with laurel, hemlock and white birch and yellow flowers.

The ceremony was performed at six o'clock by Rev. Lewis A. Walker of Arlington, former pastor of the Baptist Church at Fitchburg. Mendelssohn's wedding march being played by Miss Edna F. Cole of Leominster, a cousin of the bride.

The wedding gown was of Princess satin, trimmed with Princess lace, cut with train and the veil caught up with orange blossoms. The bouquet was of bride's roses. The maid of honor, Miss Georgia M. Winslow of Fitchburg wore yellow tulle and lace, trimmed with lace and carried yellow roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Gertrude E. Hawkins and Miss Elizabeth I. Symonds, both of Fitchburg, were in white voile over yellow and carried white asters.

Mr. Walter N. Secord of Newton, brother of the groom, was the best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Leon C. Farwell of Fitchburg, a brother of the bride and Harold Moore of Newton.

A reception followed until 7.30 P. M., the servers being Misses Bertha Moore and Alice and Edna Safford of Newton and Mrs. Henry R. Miller of Fitchburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Secord will make their home in Newton.

The bride is well known in this city where she has been engaged as a teacher in the public schools for the past four years.

KILLED AT AUBURDALE

William Furlong, aged 20, of 155 Union street, Lynn, received injuries that later resulted in his death Saturday afternoon by being struck at an overhead bridge at Woodland road, Auburndale. The young man was evidently stealing a ride on the freight train, going from Riverside toward the Woodland Station. He was thrown to the ground.

He was removed to the Newton Hospital and died at 6.20 without regaining consciousness. He was a son of Mrs. Clara Furlong of 376 Washington street, Lynn.

NOT EVADING LAW

Mayor Hatfield States Policy of City On Tuberculosis Hospital Law

While considerable notoriety has been given the attitude of the City of Newton in regard to the law requiring the establishment of a hospital for tuberculosis, the situation as outlined in the Boston papers is hardly fair to our city authorities.

The act in question was passed in 1912 and in December, the state board of health called attention to the matter. In his address to the aldermen in January, Mayor Hatfield informed the board that he had taken the matter up with the board of health and the trustees of the Newton Hospital, and the latter appointed a committee to consult with the city in regard to the matter. That committee is still at work and is endeavoring to reach a settlement similar to that under which the Hospital now operates the contagious wards for smallpox, scarlet fever and diphtheria. This solution seems the most practical as the law, while requiring the establishment of a hospital falls to give the health board any authority to require tubercular patients to go to such an institution. It would hardly be common sense to require the erection of a building to which no one might go. At the hearing given by the Legislative committee last Tuesday at the State House, Mayor Hatfield gave these facts and added that several sites for a hospital had been suggested but as soon as the neighborhood had learned of the suggestions, immediate protests had been made. There are but few cases of tuberculosis in Newton, and a large number of those reported have been placed in the state sanatoriums. Mayor Hatfield called attention to the law which allows a city which doesn't build a hospital to make other arrangements and said that the Newton board of health had such an agreement with the Waltham Hospital. President Blakemore and City Solicitor Slocum spoke in a similar vein.

After the Newton men had left the committee room, Mrs. Lucy Bradley of the Boston dispensary told of a wandering alcoholic, whom she claimed was a resident of Newton, who was in an advanced stage of the disease, and who had been at the dispensary several times during the past four years.

The attitude of the city is not in opposition to the law requiring a hospital, but to endeavor to achieve the desired result with the greatest efficiency and economy. It would be absurd for the city to erect and equip a hospital for tuberculosis, and provide nurses and physicians, when it is certainly feasible to make a satisfactory arrangement with the Newton Hospital for another building on their grounds, which could be operated as the present scarlet fever and diphtheria wards are conducted at the present time.

QUITS THE FIELD

Newton Y. M. C. A. Forfeits Ball Game To Catholic Club

The base ball game last Saturday afternoon on the West Newton common between the Newton Y. M. C. A. and the Newton Catholic Club became a wrangle in the last half of the tenth inning over decisions of the umpire and when several of the Y. M. C. A. players refused to continue the game, Umpire Hyslop, gave the game to the Catholic Club, 9 to 0.

The game was close, the Y. M. C. A. leading 4 to 1 at the fourth inning and the Catholic Club leading at the seventh inning, 6 to 4. The visitors made two runs tying the score in the ninth inning and failed to tally in the first half of the tenth. With the Catholic Club up in the last half of the tenth, Linehan stole second base, and while the decision was close, he was declared safe, although the Y. M. C. A. men kicked considerably at the decision. The batter then hit to Cobb at third base, who held Linehan at second by a bluff throw, and then got his man at first, while Linehan attempted to take third. He overran the base and while endeavoring to crawl back was touched by the ball. To the surprise of those who saw the play, Hyslop declared him safe and the row followed which led to the forfeiture of the game as well as clearing the field by the police. Another game will be played by these clubs on the Y. M. C. A. field on Saturday, Sept. 20.

The athletic event of the day was a base ball game between the married and single men of the council which was won by the married men 10 to 5. The batting of C. F. Barrows and the battery work of H. R. Newcomb and J. H. Maloney excelled for the winners while J. P. Mella and R. V. Howley performed well for the losers. Dancing was much enjoyed during the afternoon and evening. A list of sports with winners were as follows:

BEATEN AGAIN

The Upper Falls Athletic Association ball team were defeated Saturday afternoon at Winchester by the home team, 2 to 1, after a close and interesting game.

Newton started the scoring in the third on hits by DeRusha, Beals and Crowley, DeRusha crossing the plate. Winchester tied it in the fourth when Kenney singled and scored on a three-bagger to right by Leland. In the 10th Dickie got a life at first on a low throw by Beals which Ryan fumbled. Tift advanced him a base on a bunt, and Dickie scored on a hit by James Murray.

This is the first game lost by John Murray this season. Tift allowed the visitors only six hits, three of which were in the third, and struck out 10, issuing no passes. Winchester found Murray for eight hits. He struck out four and passed one.

PROGRESSIVES RECOGNIZED

Aldermen Act On Appointments of Election Officers With This In View

The tempest in a teapot occasioned by the appointments by Mayor Hatfield of two additional inspectors of elections representing the Progressive party, and which if carried out would entail an expense of $832, was averted Monday evening at the meeting of the aldermen, by the refusal of the board to confirm all appointments as election officers with an understanding that Mayor Hatfield will submit a new list next Monday evening including two representatives of each party, Republican, Democratic and Progressive, instead of three Republicans and three Democrats in each precinct, as has been the custom. The new plan will give all parties equal representation and not increase the expense of the work to the city. This result was not reached until the Finance committee had struggled with the matter of the additional appropriation and by a tie vote failed to make any recommendation in the matter.

President Blakemore presided and Aldermen Gordon, Hatch and Fork-nall were the only members absent. There were numerous hearings, as this was the first regular meeting since the summer vacation. Major Sullivan represented the Boston Elevated on its petition to spread its tracks in Tremont and Park streets for the purpose of running the newest kind of cars into Boston. There was no opposition and the grant of the location was subsequently authorized.

Opposition to Edison Light poles on Pelham street was voiced by Mrs. R. E. Walker and Mr. A. G. Brooks and favored by Messrs. Brooks and Cline and Dr. Fessenden. Written remonstrance was filed against Edison Light poles on Hunnewell avenue by Mr. S. R. Smith and Mrs. Abby M. Whelden. There was opposition filed by Mrs. Blaisdell and G. F. Woodward against the location of a gasoline engine on Newland street by Edward T. Donovan for laundry purposes.

No one appeared at the following hearings.—Edison Co. for underground conduits in Mt. Ida street, Centre street, Church street and of the Edison and telephone companies for a joint location of poles on Oak street. Permission was granted the following persons to keep gasoline, Hon. E. W. Warren, Lincoln street, Joseph W. Crowell, Commonwealth avenue, James A. Lowell, Hammond street, and Reginald J. Cooper on Commonwealth avenue.

Mayor Hatfield sent in the request of the Forest Commissioner for transfer of $1000 to Trimming trees, the offer of E. B. Squire to purchase land owned by the city on Commonwealth avenue for ten cents a foot, the recommendation of the City Engineer to widen portions of Vista avenue and Islington road, the request of the City Treasurer for transfer of $192 to salary of permanent clerks and the remonstrance of J. P. R. Sherman against the use of Farlow Park as a playground.

The Forest Commissioner filed a schedule of proposed assessments for moth work, the Mass. Civic League called attention to the new housing law for cities and the County Commissioners gave notice of their approval of new bridges over Grove street, Elliot street and Chestnut street by the B. & A.

Petitions of Thomas Meller for appointment as a public weigher, of Charles H. Attwater for auctioneer license, of Amos Landry for a wagon license, of Thomas Boudrot for a pool table license, of Walter G. Green for a common victualer license, of R. C. Huestis for license as a private detective, of William A. Sweatt for an automobile license, of the Telephone Co. for attachments on Lowell avenue, Grove street, and Edinboro street, and of the Edison Co. for attachments on Pelham and Ward streets and for a relocation on Dalby street, were granted.

Other petitions were received from Sherman et al for sewer in Nehobden road, Keefe et al for street sprinkling (Continued on Page 8)

WHEN YOU step inside of a Banking Institution—

Wouldn't it mean a great deal to you to feel and know that every person in its organization—from first to last in importance—stood ready and anxious to serve and please you as particularly as the largest depositor?

Such is the attitude in this Bank.

And that is one of the many good reasons why so many Newton people bank here in preference to a larger, more complex institution.

—The friends of Judge Raymond as well as the general public, will welcome the news that his rest in England is doing him good, physically and mentally. In a letter from Lynton, North Devon, he says: "I am gaining steadily, if slowly. We keep in the country and are not 'sight seeing', though the charms of rural England do rest the soul and help me much in my climb back to health. Here we have the tonic of mountain and sea and moor—the last Ermoor of Lorna Doone fame—glorious now with gorse and heather."—Boston Globe.

Look Unward.

By continually looking upward our minds will themselves grow upwards; and, as a man, by indulging in habits of scorn and contempt for others, is sure to descend to the level of what he despises, so the opposite habits of admiration and enthusiasm for excellence impart to ourselves a portion of the qualities we admire. Here, as in everything else, humility is the surest path to exaltation.—Phillips Brooks, D. D.

Fitting for Higher Things.

We may call the higher kingdom a spiritual kingdom or not, as we choose; but it is at least not "meat and drink." Only as a man realizes something of it can he hope to understand even himself, or his true relation to the life that now is. And it is only through a proper understanding of his relation to the present life that a man can fit himself for participation in the life of the spirit.—Exchange.

Navajo Women Own Property.

While the Navajo men and boys take care of the flocks and herds the women own the property. It is the Navajo woman who has the final say as to the disposal of sheep and cattle. This is not the result of any recent movement in behalf of equal suffrage, but has obtained among the Navajos since time immemorial.

Always an Easy Way.

Let the poets who are unable to win notoriety remember that there is always a quick and easy way. All one has to do is enlist in the army and then dash off a bit of doggerel containing an insult to the German emperor.

"Movies" in German Schools.

ALL SORTS OF GOOD THINGS

Seasonable Recipes That Are Worthy the Attention of Any Earnest Housewife.

Mint Sauce.—To be served with spring lamb. Three tablespoonfuls vinegar; two tablespoonfuls mint; one tablespoonful sugar; one tablespoonful salt. Mix ten minutes before using.

Creamed Cucumber Sauce.—For planked or boiled fish. Peel, cut into halves and remove seeds from six cucumbers. Grate them and drain until perfectly dry. Add to the grated cucumber one grated onion, juice of one lemon, one-half teaspoonful of salt, pepper and fold in one-half cup of whipped cream. Serve at once.

A Summer Dessert Called "Six Three."—To be frozen: Three cups of sugar, three cups of cream, three cups of water, three bananas (crushed), three oranges (juice), three lemons (juice).

Marshmallow Pudding.—The whites of three eggs, beaten stiff, one-half cupful cold water, one-half cupful boiling water, one cupful sugar, one tablespoonful gelatin, one teaspoonful flavoring. Soak gelatin in cold water until soft. Add sugar and flavoring, then boiling water. When mixture begins to set pour over the beaten egg whites and beat constantly for 20 minutes. Then put into molds to set.

Mayonnaise Dressing.—One-half cupful sugar, one tablespoonful flour, mix; one-half cupful milk, three and one-half teaspoonfuls salt, three-fourths cupful vinegar, balance water; one level teaspoonful mustard; three well beaten eggs; lump of butter size of an egg. When cool, add whipped cream.

Potato Salad.—Cut into small dices six large boiled potatoes. Add two stalks celery cut into small pieces, one cucumber and one-fourth onion, minced; three hard boiled eggs, sliced; salt and pepper and juice of one lemon. Pour mayonnaise over this and mix thoroughly.

SERVE THIS AT LUNCHEON

Eclairs With Fresh Strawberries Will Be Appreciated by the Family or Guests.

Cream puffs and eclairs filled with the fresh strawberries crushed and sweetened, instead of the usual cream filling are among the delights of the season. To make the eclairs, put into a graniteware saucepan one cup milk, two rounded tablespoonfuls of butter, and a tablespoonful of sugar. Set over the fire.

When this mixture boils up, stir in a cup of sifted flour (heaped) and cook for two minutes, beating continually with a wooden spoon. By this time it should be smooth and velvety. Take from the stove and cool.

When cool, beat in four eggs, one at a time. Beat vigorously for at least 20 minutes. Test by putting a bit of the paste in the oven. If it puffs up in the form of a hollow ball, it is beaten enough. If not, beat a little longer.

Have ready a tapering tin tube with the leased opening about three-quarters of an inch in diameter. Insert this in the small end of a cotton bag and put the paste in the bag. Now press out on buttered tin, having each éclair about three inches in length. Keep them well apart.

Bake about 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Take out, and while still warm, coat with a strawberry icing made by adding to a cupful of confectioner's sugar enough strawberry juice to make a fine icing.

A few drops of lemon juice may also be added. When cold, cut open on the side and fill with the berries crushed and sweetened.

Laundry Bag.

Do not have a frail, light-colored, fancy laundry bag for your washwoman to take with her. For this purpose make one out of some very strong black cotton goods and line it with hop sacking, says the Washington Herald. Sew up a long, doubled strip of the goods a half inch wide and fasten the center of this strip to the top of the bag, so that you can wind it around and around and tie it securely, as a housekeeper ties the top of a flour sack. This bag will stand hard wear.

Hints on Making of Cakes.

Always have the pan ready for the cake. A toothpick is best for trying a cake to see if it is done. Keep a box of the little wooden skewers in the pantry cupboard for this purpose. They are much better than the broom straws our mothers used for the purpose.

If there is any danger of forgetting about the cake after it is put in the oven, hang a cardboard sign on the oven door, as some cooks do, to warn against forgetting the cake.

Baked Mince Roll.

Use any scraps of cold meat, tongue, ham, etc. Pass through a mincing machine and add to it a third of fine bread crumbs. Season with good gravy, chopped parsley, pepper and salt. Beat an egg and add to the mixture. Make a nice, short crust, roll out and lay the meat on it; fold pastry over so as to form a roll. Bake 20 minutes. Serve with brown gravy.

Ink Stains Removed.

I find that ink stains on garments can be soaked out with a mixture of salt and milk. Use a teaspoonful of salt to nearly a half glass of milk. This solution can be used for either white or colored fabrics; but if the ink has been allowed to dry it will be necessary to soak the stained part in the milk for an hour or two.

"YOU CAN RELY ON LEWANDOS"

THE LUCKY OLD RING

By JOSEPH E. SMITH.

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 27, 190—
Dear Old Dad: We have always been such awfully good friends about everything that I thought I would tell you how it happened.

Of course it's Jim's sister. You remember Jim. He was one of the boys in the old frat back at Yale. You know we were both on the eleven for old Eli, and it made it no end jolly that when I got it for coach here he should get it for trainer, too.

At first I liked Edith because she was Jim's sister. I took her to things and tried to give her a good time. Pretty soon, I got to like her for her own sake, and then finally it happened—only after I had made a thousand fools of myself.

You see, since Jim and I were such chums, I got to know Edith pretty well, and we became great friends.

If it hadn't been for the ring, it might never have happened. It was a heavy Egyptian scarab, with an engraved setting. It was a particular thing in the frat, and you know you couldn't let a girl wear it unless you were engaged. A scarab is supposed to bring luck, and mine certainly did.

One night I had come back home from taking Edith to a reception. I glanced down at my hand and saw that my ring was gone from my little finger. It upset me considerably. Not that the ring was valuable, only a fellow hates to lose anything like that. I could not see any way that I could possibly have lost it. After I had hunted everywhere I gave it up.

I was out of town for a week or so, but the next time I saw Edith, you can imagine what I felt when I saw my ring on her finger. It knocked me flat with surprise. At first I couldn't think of any way that she could have gotten it, until at last it came to me, that the night of the reception she had asked me to hold her muff for a moment. My ring must have slipped off in it then, and the next day she probably found it.

It was the fact that she wore it that gave me courage to speak at last. As long as she was Jim's sister, I knew that she must know what it meant for a girl to wear that ring, and so I was in a fool's heaven of happiness.

It was good weather for sleighing and so I took Edith out the first chance I got. Nothing seemed to come right to bring up the subject until she took her glove off, for some reason or other. It happened to be on the hand that had the ring on. I looked at it and said:

"You know what that ring means, don't you, Edith?"

"She looked rather surprised. 'Of course.'"

"We were way out in the country and I guess my happiness went to my head and made me all kinds of a presumptuous fool. She pulled her hand away with a jerk. The air had brought the color to her face, but it was not the air which made it deepen. She did not say a word, but just looked at me.

"But the ring—" I stammered. "What has the ring got to do with—"

"Why, you know what it means, and I thought you understood."

"She stared at me incredulously. 'Jack, what do you mean? I don't understand at all.'"

"It was my turn to stare at her. 'Why, didn't you find my ring in your muff?'"

"Your ring in my muff! How should it come there?"

"I lost my ring the night of the reception, and when I saw you with that on, I thought you had found it. Your wearing it gave me hope for something I had never dared dream of. You must know that I—"

Edith looked at me a moment and then she laughed.

"This ring? It has always had a fascination for me. I have tried to persuade Jim to let me wear it and he never would. So when I found it on his dresser last night I appropriated it."

Then all of a sudden it came over me what a fool I'd been. I might have known it was Jim's, but I was so ready in my conceit to think it was mine that I never stopped to consider anything else.

"I don't suppose there's anything I can say. I am sorry to have made a fool of myself and have spoiled everything."

There was a long silence after I had headed the horse around. I thought of all the things I might say, and didn't.

It must have been the courage of despair that made me ask:

"Can't we keep on being friends, only in another way?"

And then it happened. I could hardly believe that Edith could care for a fellow like me.

But, Dad, here's where I come to the joke of the thing. The next time I had on my evening coat, it was cold and I dug my hands deep into my pockets to keep them warm. Down in a corner I felt something cold and hard. I fished it out, and what do you think? That lucky old scarab ring! It had slipped off in my pocket and been there all the time.

But I'll choke off this yarn. Send me your congratulations, Dad.

Yours as ever,
JACK.

HER SHORT ROMANCE

By CELIA MYROVER ROBINSON.

Melissy walked slowly down the road, swinging her sunbonnet in her hand, letting the little breezes stir the soft hair about her face, and drinking in the pungent breath of the pines.

Melissy's dream was very sweet and very bitter. She had been only a girl—Melissy was thirty-four now—when she had had her short romance.

There had never been a man at Rixton Corners could compare with Hiram. Melissy thought him the handsomest and cleverest of men. And he thought Melissy as beautiful as she was good, and Hiram had felt there was no higher praise than that.

It was on an evening of just such an April day that Hiram had first kissed her and she had promised to be his wife.

But the long, sweet summer had not passed before Hiram had grown cold and capricious, changing so much that Melissy hardly knew him for the same ardent lover of a few months back. The girl was high-spirited—the broken woman smiled, sadly, as she remembered this—and on one day of anger and rebellion she had sent Hiram away and he had never come back to her again.

He had left The Corners, and during all the long years since, Melissy had never heard from him. Vague rumors had reached her, however, that he had gone to Florida and had made money in turpentine.

The camp meeting grounds were a good three miles from The Corners, and Melissy was very tired by the time she had covered half the way. She sat down by the roadside in the shade of a big oak, fanning with the pink sunbonnet, resting the tired limbs awhile before going on again. The sun was very hot by this time, and the pungent breath of wild honeysuckles and the heavy fragrance of yellow jessamine made Melissy's head ache. She leaned back against the mossy trunk with closed eyes, listening to the mockingbird up in the oak and thinking of Hiram—and wondering why life was so hard, and why he had changed so towards her. Melissy had been too proud to ask for an explanation—Melissy felt now that she would not be too proud, if Hiram were only here.

A half hour later a man driving down the dusty road at a rapid pace drew up his horses sharply, with an ejaculation of surprise. The figure in the blue cotton dress leaning back against the great oak was so still, and the sweet face framed in the heavy masses of wavy brown hair was so white that he thought at first she was dead. But at the clatter of the team and his own strong voice Melissy's slumber was broken, and she sat up, looking dazed and a little disheveled, and rubbing her eyes like a sleepy child. Then she laughed and her face turned pink as she encountered the look on the bearded face. She put on her sunbonnet, hastily, and somehow began to feel very girlish and timid. It had been a long time since Melissy had encountered that look in anyone's eyes, but she had been a belle for too many years not to know when she had struck a spark of admiration.

"I believe I must have fallen asleep," she said, a little nervously. "I believe you did," said the man, laughing.

"It was so hot," said Melissy, "and I am so tired. I am on my way to camp meeting and I got plum beat out with the heat."

"It's getting pretty hot," said the man.

"I reckon it wasn't the heat so much," said Melissy, "but I've been right poorly this winter. This is the first time I've been out for a long walk since January."

"You ought not to have tried to walk it," said the man. "You aren't strong enough. It's a good three miles, at least, from your place."

Melissy looked surprised.

"Land!" she said, "how do you know? I thought you were a stranger in these parts," and she looked with interest at the fine team and shiny trap, and the tall, well-dressed figure.

"Melissy," said the man, his voice hoarse and shaken, "don't you know me?"

Melissy face turned as white as the little wilted roses in her belt. For a moment she stood quite still, like a frightened child. Then she gave a glad cry: "Oh, Hiram, Hiram! It's been so long," and burst into bitter sobbing.

Hiram took her in his arms and wiped away the tears.

"It has been long, Melissy," he said, "but we'll fill our lives so full of happiness we'll forget the sorrow. Do you remember the dreams you used to have of seeing the world, Melissy? Well, we'll see it together, dear. I've made plenty of money, and I've come back to beg you to forgive me for my pride and jealousy."

"I never could understand—" began Melissy. Hiram stopped her with a kiss.

I thought you cared for Dock Gibson. It was Amarlah Hill who told me. She said you were a flirt. I was too proud to tell you, and, anyhow, I promised not. And you did flirt a little, you know, Melissy."

"Oh, Hiram—" began Melissy.

But Hiram kissed her into silence again.

PARK THEATRE—Charles Frohman, at the Park Theatre, Boston, beginning Monday evening, September 15th, will present for its first performance outside of New York "The Conspiracy," the police-detective play by John Emerson and Robert Baker which it will be recalled ran the whole of last season at Mr. Frohman's New York Garrick Theatre. "The Conspiracy" is credited with an abundance of thrills as well as amusing situations to relieve the excitement, and of all the underworld plays produced last season it has met with the most favor. Two companies are now on tour presenting the piece in America and at the present time "The Conspiracy" is the season's success at the Comedy Theatre, London.

Mr. Frohman sends to Boston the original Garrick Theatre cast including, besides Mr. Emerson, Mary Keener, Roslyn Mundell, Helena Rapoport, Julia Blanc, Francis Byrne, Georgis Majeroni, Langdon Gillet, Conrad Cantzen, Warren Cook, Willard Barton and P. E. McCoy. The scenic equipment is an elaborate and unusual one.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—One of the biggest successes in vaudeville this season has been registered by Jack Norworth, the song writer and comedian. Mr. Norworth has devised something entirely new in the way of entertainment and with the aid of a number of assistants goes from one thing to another with lightning rapidity and makes forty minutes seem like ten. He will be the feature of an exceptionally strong bill, which will include Lovenberg's Six American Dancers in entirely new stage settings; the Duffin-Redway Troupe in sensational casting feats; William Weston and Company in a sketch that ends with a big surprise; Leo Zarell Trio in humorous acrobatics; the Famous Four Huntings in their big scream called, "Fun in a Crazy House"; Carmen Ersell, late of the "Duke of Luxembourg" and the Hurrah Company in sensational skating feats.

LODGES

The Improved Order of Heptasophs will give their first whist and dancing party of the fall season at Elliot Hall on the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 1st.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—May Irwin, who has made the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, the laughing centre of the city, continues to delight large audiences in her screamingly funny play "Widow by Proxy." On next Monday this jolly comedienne, whose good nature is as infectious as the measles, will begin the third and second last week of her engagement. While there is every reason to believe that she could easily remain in Boston for a long time, the prearranged bookings in her tour make it impossible. Therefore if you have not yet witnessed "the nation's greatest laugh producer" you had better take advantage of the last remaining opportunities. To see Miss Irwin is to enjoy the season's biggest laugh.

CLOSING DAYS AT NORUMBEGA

An excellent vaudeville bill is the attraction at Norumbega's world-famous theatre for the closing week of the regular season. Six great acts make a bill of entertainment that you would find it hard to beat. Heading the bill are the Holman Bros. in an eccentric comedy horizontal bar exhibition; The Four Twins, favorites of the vaudeville world, won immediate applause with their clever dancing and harmonious singing; Pelham Lynton, English Comedian in songs and character changes from the London Music Hall; Kelley & Fine with their antics and nonsense; The Colonial Four, sweet singers of old and new songs rendered with novel costumes and charming voices, were very pleasing, while the Five Moshers in a daring exhibition of aerial gymnastics while supported by moving bicycles kept the crowd a thrill. The Komograph presented the latest animated motion pictures, Sunday evening the last sacred concert of the season will be given and a program of great interest has been arranged.

The Park remains open indefinitely as usual for visitors to the Zoological Gardens and for those who wish to observe the glorious autumnal changes. Boathouses for canoeists will be open every fair day.

Planted Trees to Honor Chiefs. During the presidential campaign of Andrew Jackson, who was called "Old Hickory," his admirers planted scores of hickory trees throughout the land in his honor and at the same time to magnify a party slogan. When John Quincy Adams was a presidential candidate, his followers planted oaks in his honor.

THE NEWTON SCHOOL REPORT

The Elementary School Teacher for September has the following comment on the recent annual report of the school committee of Newton.

The Annual Report of Mr. F. E. Spaulding, superintendent of the schools of Newton, Massachusetts, has just appeared. In this report, he not only holds to the high standard set by his reports for several years past, but here surpasses his own previous best work in many ways. So far as it goes—and as compared with the usual report it goes a very long way—it is a model of what a school report should be. It is a publicity message from the superintendent of the city schools to his constituency which shows simply, accurately, and clearly just what the schools are attempting, where the emphases are being placed, where the moneys are being expended, where economies are being attempted, and the plans that are being made for the future.

The report presents certain questions in terms that the layman can understand; it answers those that the superintendent is expected to answer, and presents the facts needed by the layman for answering the questions asked of him. Some of the questions are: What are the Newton schools trying to do? With what success? Do you approve the policy? Is it carried out economically? Is it administered efficiently? Can we afford to continue it? Can we afford not to continue it?

Mr. Spaulding prefaces the chapter which deals with the efficiency of the schools with a statement that is remarkable for its practical and scientific character. "The progressive improvement of a school system demands that the following essentials of scientific management be applied incessantly: (1) the measurement and comparison of comparable results; (2) the analysis and comparison of conditions under which given results are secured—especially of the means employed in securing given results; (3) the consistent adoption and use of those means that justify themselves most fully by their results, abandoning those that fail so to justify themselves. The measurement of measurable educational results by suitable standards need limit those results to the dimensions of the standards no more than the measurement of a child's height limits his growth to the dimensions of the yard-stick."

As our profession carries out the implications of these principles, we shall during the process develop educational science to the degree that will permit for educational labor that of which we now hear much and feel little, namely, scientific management.

A REMARKABLE TRIP

Mr. John G. Blaisdell of Auburn street, Auburndale, has recently returned from a trip remarkable, not only for the extent of country traversed, the almost exact equal division of miles travelled on land and water, but for the fact that the entire trip was accomplished within 15 minutes of an exact seven days. Mr. Blaisdell's itinerary was as follows:—

Saturday, August 31, took the 8.00 A. M. train to Providence, R. I.; visited Roger William Park and Rocky Point, steamed at 6.30 P. M. for New York City, arrived Sunday, 7 A. M.; took the 8 A. M. train Pennsylvania Railroad to Philadelphia; took the 1 P. M. train from Philadelphia to Atlantic City, N. J., arriving at 2 o'clock; left on the 7 P. M. train for Philadelphia, arriving at 7.45 P. M.; took the 8 P. M. train for Baltimore, Md., arriving in Baltimore at 7 A. M.; Monday, September 1, took the 8 A. M. electric to Washington, D. C.; left Washington at 5 P. M. Monday, arriving at Baltimore at 6 P. M.; took the Steamer Florida at 6.30 P. M. for Norfolk, Va., arriving at 6.30 A. M. Tuesday; left Norfolk at 7 A. M. for Richmond, Va., on the Steamer Pocahontas; one day's sail up the James River, stopping at Old Point Comfort, Hampton, Newport News, Va., arriving in Richmond at 7 P. M. Tuesday evening; Wednesday left Richmond at 5 P. M. for West Point, Va., thence by Steamer Columbia to Baltimore, Md., arriving on Thursday morning at 8 A. M.; left Baltimore at 7 A. M. for Philadelphia; left Philadelphia at 9 P. M. for New York City, arriving at 8 P. M.; left New York City at 5.30 P. M. Friday for Boston by train, arriving in Boston at midnight; arrived in Auburndale Saturday, September 6, at 7.45 A. M., travelling 2,000 miles in one week—1,000 by rail and 1,000 by water.

LYCETT-WESTLAKE

The wedding of Miss Jessie Llewellyn Westlake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac C. Westlake of Newton, and Cecil Leland Lycett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lycett of Holton, Maine, took place Monday evening at the home of the bride on Carleton street.

The house was very attractively decorated for the occasion with ferns and autumn flowers. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Elliot Church. The bride and groom stood under a canopy of white ribbon streamers interwoven with flowers in the centre of the music-room, which was converted into a bower of ferns and Hydrangeas. As the bridal party entered, Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Mrs. Edward Bateman of Malden.

The bride was gowned in ivory white satin, with real duchesse lace and pearls which were worn by her great grandmother. She wore a tulle veil with wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses, and was attended by her sister, Miss Adeline A. Westlake, as maid of honor, who was becomingly gowned in yellow silk net over yellow taffeta. The groom was attended by Mr. Lester Dunklee of Milford, N. H., as best man. A reception followed the ceremony and guests numbering 70 were present from Malden, Somerville, Winthrop, Lynn, Boston and the Newtons. Mr. and Mrs. Lycett were the recipients of many beautiful and costly gifts including cut-glass, and silverware. They left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, and on their return will reside in Pittsburg, Pa.

LIVING AND THE DEAD

By JOHN M'FEE.

As he bolted from the ferry and flung himself into the cab, Lieutenant Barker felt all the exhilaration of heroism. He was just home from the Philippines and his mind was burdened with a message from a dead comrade to his wife—and that wife Barker's old and lost sweetheart.

His telegram had prepared the way and he was admitted at once. Mrs. Moffat came to him almost as soon as he reached the parlor. She held out her hand and threw back her head in the manner so characteristic of her girlhood days that the young officer was startled at the small change time had made with her.

"I am very glad to see you," she said simply. "And I am only sorry that your visit must be so brief. Must it be so?"

"Yes," he replied. "I must go to Washington at once—to report. I am sorry, too, because I would like to—to renew old acquaintance. I came here first, even before I fulfilled my duty to the government because I was charged with a message from my friend—your husband—a last message given on his deathbed."

"Yes," was all she said, and her expression was so imperturbable that the officer paused and glanced at her keenly.

The lieutenant took a packet of papers from his breast pocket.

"George asked me to give these papers to you," he said, "and as his friend—and—and—yours, I undertook the commission. I was with him when he died—and you know—this comradeship is a very close tie." He ended weakly and wiped his face.

"Is there nothing else?" she asked.

"Did he leave no verbal message?" Barker went white to his finger-tips.

There was something else, but how could he tell this splendid woman, whom he loved better—aye, a thousand times better—than the man who had married her, that her husband died with the name of another woman on his lips? And she had asked him for the burning words which should have come from her dying husband's lips, but which had welled up for another woman.

She Walked to the Window.

"A lie is always bad," he said to himself, "but this time the truth is impossible. I cannot—I will not—hurt both the living and the dead—the living woman whom I love and the dead man who was my friend."

"Mrs. Moffat—Ethel," he said, gravely, taking her hand in his, "your name was last on George's lips. He said: 'Tell her, Phil, that my last thought was of her and that she was the only woman in the world for me.'"

The woman paled under her splendid self-control and the tears came into her eyes. She turned and walked to the window and for a long time looked into the street.

"Mrs. Moffat," he said, "I must go. My train leaves in half an hour. Good-by."

She turned and came slowly back to him—so close that he could feel the warmth of her body. Her eyes were steady as they looked into his.

"Phil," she said, "you lied to me just now. Oh, you men are wonderful in your loyalty and devotion. I know all about George and his relations with the Gordon woman. I know that he died with her name on his lips and not mine. No matter how I know it. I do not blame you for lying about it. You thought to protect his memory and save me pain. I honor you for it."

"But, Phil, there is another lie that was told—for a different purpose. He—George, my husband, your friend—lied to me to steal me from you. He lied about you and, heaven help me, I believed his lying tongue and married him. I knew he had lied before we had been married a month, and he knew that I knew it. I could not undo the past, but I could not help hating and despising him—and he knew it and he loved the Gordon woman—and—and—oh, God, can't you see the living hell it has been!"

"Is it too late?" he asked, holding out his arms.

The color came to her face in a crimson flood and the tears welled to her eyes as she swayed toward him and he gathered her into his strong embrace.

Pretty soon she looked up with a roguish twinkle in her eye.

"Are you not afraid you will miss your train?" she asked.

He stopped to gather toll from the red lips.

"I am not afraid of anything—now," he said.

The only Boilers that are guaranteed to do what they are rated to do; you don't have to get the "next larger size."

To those who want heat at the least cost of care and money we offer these Boilers with a guarantee that means something;—a warm house in zero weather, heat perfectly controllable, simplicity of operation, a saving in fuel, trouble and repair bills and a great gain in satisfaction.

We know the boiler troubles; we have made boilers for 30 years and in these radically new and scientifically correct designs we have produced heating apparatus better than anything heretofore offered.

EDITORIAL

I am inclined to be somewhat grateful to the editor of another Newton paper for his caustic criticism of my recent editorial opposing the additional expense occasioned by the appointment of Progressive election officers.
While I very much doubt if any one else read into my words, the jaundiced meaning accepted by the editor in question, it is possible that some one might have done so and I believe I should make myself clear on the matter. I did not intend to oppose the appointment of Progressive election officers, as such, and my only reason, as I think I expressed it, was that the additional expense was not necessary and persons who advocated it were making a "raid" on the city treasury.
I still stand by that statement.

The proposition that the present number of election officers should be equally divided between the representatives of the Republican, Democratic and Progressive parties, is an entirely different question, involves no additional expense and is one which ought to meet the approval of even the most "intolerant" partisan. Our Progressive friends cast a large enough vote last year to entitle them to all political privileges and no one with a grain of political sense would oppose them in this respect.

I have long been an advocate of a wise economy in city expenditures and do not intend to lose that point of view either under adverse editorial comment or from unusual political considerations.

The action of the aldermen Monday night in rejecting the appointments of all election officers with the understanding with Mayor Hatfield that a new list should be submitted with equal representation of the three leading parties, is the sensible and logical solution of the whole matter.

In this connection Newton citizens should understand that the action of the aldermen in rejecting the appointments for election officers was taken after consultation with Mayor Hatfield and was the result of an understanding with him. In no sense was Mayor Hatfield "turned down" nor could it be termed a "victory" for the Progressive party, as the only material question at issue was the one of expense.

In Congressman A. P. Gardner, the Republicans of this city have a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, whom they can support with confidence and enthusiasm. Mr. Gardner's political record shows him to be a man of independence, courage and ability.
A man who did not fear to antagonize the strong political forces, dominant in Washington several years ago, and who was an "insurgent" when insurgency cost influence and position.
Mr. Gardner's nomination by the Republican party will go a long way towards reconciliation with many voters who are now inclined to enter the Progressive ranks, and would give the Republicans a strong candidate for chief executive next November.

The Newton schools opened for another season of work last Monday with a full corps of teachers, ample room and every facility for accomplishing the best of work. Every citizen of Newton will join in wishing the greatest success the present year to our school department, and the greatest success will be achieved when every parent takes enough interest in the school work to keep in touch with what the department is doing with his own children.

The street railway traffic in Nanantum Square now demands the construction of either an "island" or some other form of protection for persons who persist in standing in the open square while waiting for a car. Don't let us wait for a serious accident before providing this accommodation.

The passage of the authority to spread the tracks of the Boston Elevated railway between the Boston line and Nonantum Square is the first step towards a greatly improved service to Boston, which will ultimately merge into the rapid transit afforded by the new Boylston street subway.

Severe Test for Physician.

It is said that Ardasher, the king of the Persians, never permitted a physician to prescribe for him until he had been stung by a viper. If he was able to heal himself he gave him his daily food and the physician en- t his service.—The Orient.

BATEY-KEMPTON
A very pretty home wedding occurred at the residence of Mrs. Myra A. Miner of 83 High street on Wednesday evening, when her granddaughter Miss Bertha Freeman Kempton was united in marriage to Mr. James Charles Batey. The house was tastefully decorated with ferns and asters, the color scheme being green and white. The bride was becomingly adorned with white tulle and carried up with pearl trimming and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. SOME CHEESE DISHES

ATTRACTIVE WAYS TO SAVE THE MEAT BILL.

There is as much nourishment in these dishes as in meat and they are more healthful in warm weather.

Pimola and cheese salad is a favorite, the green and white with bits of red making a color combination especially attractive. Take two dozen pimolas and chop them fine. If you cannot get the pimolas, pit two dozen olives and mince them with a can of pimolatoes. Take three large balls of cream cheese and beat in the pimolas thoroughly. Press the cheese into a mold and set it on the ice. When it is ready to serve turn the cheese out on a bed of lettuce leaves, then slice the mixture and pour mayonnaise or French dressing over it.

Spiced Cheese Salad.—Another delicious cheese salad is made by working the yolk of a hard boiled egg smooth in a bowl, then adding half a pound of old cheese that has been grated and mixed with one-half teaspoonful each of salt, sugar, red pepper and prepared mustard. Beat in one tablespoonful of olive oil, and lastly the same amount of vinegar that has stood half an hour on a thin slice of onion. This salad is delicious in itself, but if you can add a cupful of minced chicken or veal to it it is even better. Garnish with circles of the white of the egg or with parsley. Serve very cold with salted crackers or with lettuce sandwiches.

Cheese Balls.—Cheese balls are very nice to serve with most green salads. Whip the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth with one-half teaspoonful of salt. Stir in three cupfuls of grated cheese and a dash of pepper. Form the paste into balls the size of walnuts, roll them in sifted bread crumbs, fry in hot fat, drain and serve very hot.

Cheese Fritters.—Cheese fritters are made by cutting three ounces of cheese into small pieces and rubbing each of them to a smooth paste with one teaspoonful of very finely chopped cooked ham, three teaspoonfuls of sifted bread crumbs, into which one teaspoonful of dry mustard has been mixed; butter the size of an egg and the yolk of one egg well beaten. Shape the paste into balls the size of a walnut, dip it into fritter batter and drop into hot fat. Fry until a delicate brown, drain on brown paper and serve immediately.

Cheese and Rice.—Cold boiled rice can be used in another good luncheon or breakfast dish. Butter a baking dish and put a layer of rice in it, then one of cheese either grated or cut into little bits. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, put in another layer of rice and cheese and cover the dish with bread crumbs. Pour one-half cupful of rich milk or cream over the rice and bake for 30 minutes in a hot oven or until it is nicely browned.

Cream Toast With Cheese.—Creamed toast with cheese is hot toast liberally sprinkled with grated cheese, then baked until the cheese is golden brown. Put the toast on a hot platter and pour a thick white sauce over it. The proportions to observe in making sauce for this purpose are two level tablespoonfuls of flour and a heaping tablespoonful of butter to each quart of milk.

Plum Cake.
Beat one pound of butter to a cream, mix it with three well-beaten eggs, two pounds of best flour, one pound of currants, one pound of sugar, five heaped teaspoons of baking powder and a pinch of salt; mix rather lightly with lukewarm milk. Put the dough into buttered tins and bake immediately. This cake is very good, but does not improve with keeping more than a day or two. Time to bake, one or two hours, according to the size of the tins. Sufficient for two or three cakes.

Lemon Jelly.
Six lemons, juice of all, grated peel of two; two large cups sugar; one package any good gelatine, soaked in two cups cold water; two glasses sherry or white wine, one pint boiling water. Strain sugar, lemon juice, peel and soaked gelatine together; cover for an hour. Pour the boiling water over them; stir until the gelatine is quite melted; strain; add the wine; strain again through close flannel bag and pour into wet mould.

Nut Cake.
One cup butter, two cups sugar, three and one-half cups pastry flour, four eggs, one cup raisins, one cup walnuts, one cup milk, vanilla to flavor. Cream butter and sugar, add eggs, then three cups of the flour in which two teaspoons of baking powder have been sifted twice, add the milk alternately with the flour, and lastly add the fruit and nuts chopped and dredged with the remaining half cup flour. Bake 40 minutes.

To Wax Hard Wood Floors.
Boil one-half pound of potash with the same weight of water and add one pound of beeswax; apply to the floor while hot. This makes an excellent finish for any waxed work, such as in finish of dwellings.

TIPS ON MAKING ICED TEA

Two Methods, Both of Which Have Their Exponents, Are Fully Explained.

There is probably no drink more refreshing and certainly none that can be more attractively served than iced tea. It can be made before it is needed and kept on hand, always chilled, in the ice box, or it can be made at a moment's notice, provided there is plenty of ice, plenty of fresh boiling water and the right sort of tea at hand.

There are two methods of making iced tea, and both have their exponents. One says to put cracked ice in a glass and then put in a slice or so of lemon, and, if sweetness is liked, a sufficient number of lumps of sugar. Then make tea, rather strong, with freshly boiling water. After the water has stood on the grounds for four or five minutes, pour the tea on the ice. A safeguard against broken glasses is to put a spoon in each glass. The spoon serves as a conductor of heat.

The other method for making iced tea is more economical, for, according to it, the tea is made and poured into a big bottle, fruit jar or covered jug or pitcher, when it is sufficiently strong, and then stood in the ice box until it is thoroughly chilled. Slices of lemon and sugar can be added before or after it is served, and a little chopped ice adds not only to the deliciousness, but also to the sound of the tea—and nothing is more suggestive of refreshment when the mercury is climbing than the sound of tinkling ice and glass.

TO SERVE SUMMER DRINKS

Dainty Sets of Iced Tea and Other Drinks Are Now Found In Shops.

The shopkeepers are not slow to realize that well-appointed services for iced tea will tempt the housekeeper who wishes to serve it correctly. Even if she does not indulge in a whole set, she longs for at least a set of glasses or a set of iced tea spoons.

The set contains, first of all, an iced teapot, which is shaped like a tall, narrow teapot, and is made of glass, with silver mountings. A lemon dish, a sugar dish and bucket for cropped lemons are made to match. The iced tea glasses are made of fairly heavy glass, with handles attached well toward the bottom.

A set consisting of a heavy Claretian walnut tray, an iced teapot, an ice bucket, a sugar dish, a lemon holder and six glasses, all in etched glass with silver mountings, and six sterling silver iced tea spoons cost over $82.

A similar set in Colonial glass costs $82. The set can be broken, however. The Colonial glasses cost, for half a dozen, $13.50. The spoons, which are long and graceful and may be used for other cold drinks as well, cost $17.50 a dozen in sterling silver. In the best quality of plated silver they cost from $3.50 to $5 a dozen. They are almost a necessity for the summer hostess, who realizes the inadequacy of the short teaspoon for the tall iced tea glass.

Dutch Apple Cake.

Mix one cupful of scalded milk, one-third cupful of butter, one-third cupful of sugar, and one-third teaspoonful of salt. When lukewarm add one yeastcake, broken into small pieces, two eggs, unbeaten and bread flour (once sifted) to make a soft dough. Cover and let rise until mixture has nearly doubled its bulk. Cut down beat thoroughly, cover and again let rise. Cut down, spread evenly in a buttered dripping pan, and brush over with melted butter. Wipe, pare, cut in eighths and remove cores from five apples. Press sharp edges of apple sections into the dough in parallel rows, lengthwise of pan. Mix one-fourth cupful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon, and sprinkle over dough; then sprinkle with two teaspoonfuls of currants. Cover again let rise until light, and bake 30 minutes.

Picnic for Twelve People.
About three pounds cold salmon one and one-half pints mayonnaise sauce, two cucumbers, cold roast quarter of lamb, cold mint sauce, two chickens, fruit, tarts, two custards, jellies or creams, two molds, two quarts strawberries, one pint cream, one-half pound cheese, one-half pound butter, two loaves of bread, one pound crackers, pepper, salt, mustard. What to drink is individual taste and means—wine cup if desired, tea or coffee. Small cakes.

To Save Ironing.
This season fashion throws some of the burden of ironing off busy shoulders, for cotton crepe garments, including skirts, nightgowns and all undergarments are offered in the most exclusive stores, says Mother's Magazine. These garments are especially in vogue for European trips, but there is no reason why the busy housewife should not use them, too.

Cabbage Soup.
Here is an excellent recipe for cabbage soup: One cup of chopped cabbage, boiled in salt and water until done. Add any quantity of milk, pepper and a small piece of butter. Roll a cracker fine and put in.

HOW TO MAKE A BED

COMFORT AND SANITATION ARE FIRST CONSIDERATIONS.

Passion for Airing Bedding Every Day Is Passport to Clear Skin—Bed-making Not a Job for Children.

That beds should be comfortable and sleeping rooms sanitary is admitted by everyone in view of the fact that we pass eight or nine hours out of every twenty-four in them.

A passion for airing bedding thoroughly every day is almost a passport to a clear skin and good health. Housewives who are in the habit of making up their beds early in the morning run the terrible risks of illness and are not as tidy as they think they are.

This is because pounds of waste matter and insensible perspiration leave the body during sleep. This is absorbed by the light clothes, bedding and drapery in the room. It can only be dispelled by a current of fresh air, by washing and cleaning.

Mats cannot often be trusted to air beds as palatially as the house mistress likes, therefore it is a good plan to ask each member of the family to remove the covers from their bed before they leave their rooms in the morning. This only takes a moment's time and is a great factor in the family's good health.

Too often bed-making is relegated to the children of the family. If there are two of them this may answer, but it is not possible for one small person to make a bed properly, unassisted. In the first place, as I have intimated, the mattresses should be turned back to allow a circulation of air beneath them, and the covers laid over chairs before open windows. There is wisdom in having hair mattresses and the best quality of bedding, for it outlasts poor goods four to one and is more comfortable. The mattress should be washed when dusty.

After the mattress is in place lay on the pad, then the lower sheet. Sheets are usually made with a wide hem at the top and a narrow one at the foot, but some persons prefer marking the top of the sheet with initials. It is important to have some way of telling which is the top and which the bottom. This under sheet cannot be drawn too tightly nor too snugly tucked under the mattress. Upon its smoothness and firmness depends the appearance and comfort of the completed bed.

Now put on the upper sheet and covers and turn them down neatly. Tuck the sides and ends under the smooth top every crease before putting on the upper spread. Marcellise spreads are still the handsomest of all. They do not crumple and frequent washings only improve their snowy whiteness. Now come the pillows. Punch them with your fists and shake them until they seem full of fresh air and well puffed out. Now pat them into shape and lay them in place with the open ends toward the sides of the bed.

Shams and bolsters have gone out of fashion and we are glad of this, for they made much extra work, were never useful and seldom ornamental. When making sheets, cut them so they will be long enough to tuck beneath the mattress at least four inches, top and bottom. They should extend well over the covers when the bed is made and turned down, not only to protect the comforts and quilts, but to keep the covers from touching the sleeper's face.

Steamed Chocolate Pudding.
One-half cup sugar, one teaspoon butter, one egg, one-half cup milk one cup flour, one square chocolate melted, one-half teaspoon cream tartar, one-quarter teaspoon soda. Put in pudding boiler or tin pail. Steam one hour.

Sauce.—Boil three-quarters of a pint of milk, one egg, one level teaspoon flour, three-eighths cup sugar. Mix and stir in the boiled milk and boil until as thick as thick cream. Flavor with vanilla.

Sponge Drops.
Beat one whole egg and a yolk until light, gradually beat in three-quarters cup sugar, a grating of lemon rind and one-quarter cup cold water; then beat in three-quarters cup flour sifted again with one-quarter teaspoon soda and a scant level teaspoon of cream of tartar. Drop on a buttered paper and bake in a quick oven. Sift your flour once before measuring and again with soda and cream of tartar.

Sweet Muffins.
One-half cup of sugar, one dessert spoon of butter, two eggs. Break eggs, sugar and butter into a dish and beat with sugar and butter one cup flour, one cup of R. I. white meal, three teaspoons of baking powder, good pinch of salt, milk enough to make thick batter. Drop into greased pans and bake in quick oven.

An Improved Shady Spot.
If there is no shady spot in the yard in which to dry colored clothes, such as gingham, pinning them upon the shady side of a sheet hung double will prevent their fading.—Good House Keeping.

on California street, James Hutchins for settlement for land taken for widening River street in 1835 and of the Edison Co. for relocation on Walnut street.

On recommendation of committees $30 was paid for settling the claim of Grace M. Allen on account of damages caused by sewer construction. $1665 additional was voted for Poor out of City Home, several grants of appropriations authorized, two important transfers made, and the new statute accepted allowing the city to refuse to appoint deputy election officers.

In opening the debate on the matter of confirmation or rejection of the election officers submitted by Mayor Hatfield, Alderman Bemis stated that the Finance Committee by a vote of 3 to 3 refused to recommend the $332 necessary to pay the additional Progressive representatives. It had seemed desirable to allow that party to be represented but the additional expense was unnecessary as the law would allow the appointments of two men from each of the three leading parties. There would be no benefit to the city by confirming the two additional men and the whole matter was largely one of sentiment. The board could refuse to confirm the mayor's appointments of the Progressives, and accept the Republican and Democratic list, it could confirm the Progressive appointees and select for confirmation one Republican and one Democratic inspector from the list filed by the mayor or it could reject all appointments with the understanding that the Mayor should submit a 2-2 list at the next meeting of the board.

Alderman Winslow cited the average vote of the three parties at the last election to show that the Progressive party was entitled to representation altho he claimed that the Progressive leaders did not favor the additional expense to the city.

Alderman Murphy stated that he did not believe the Progressive party claimed that the ballots were unfairly counted and recalled the large vote cast by the Independence League a few years ago, and the refusal to recognize that party in this way, at that time. Mr. Murphy thought that our present election officers were practically selected on a non-partisan basis and for efficiency only, and as in his opinion it was extremely doubtful whether the Progressive party would be a party after the present year, he did not favor throwing our experienced election officers to make way for untrained men.

Alderman Richardson said that if the entire list was rejected the Mayor would have an opportunity to revise the entire list and if the Progressive party did not last, the old status could be resumed next year.

The regular Republican and Democratic list of election officers was then rejected, 15 to 2 and the Progressive list was also refused 16 to 1. The board adjourned at 9.56.

ALCOHOL CHAT

A prominent druggist recently said to us, "you have the goods, but people don't know it." This expression contains some slang it is true, but it explains why we are using newspaper space to convince you that we make Alcohol that can be depended upon, the kind that you will enjoy using, the kind that is refreshing to smell of, and will never have any objectionable odor when used in the sick room. The next time you have occasion to buy any Alcohol, ask your druggist for Graves' Grain Alcohol, and when you get it see that the firm signature, Chester H. Graves & Sons is on the face and neck label over the cork.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—A play new to Boston will be the attraction at the Castle Square next week. Its title is "Bachelors and Benedicts," its author is Jackson D. Haag, and in plot, scenes and characters it is genuine comedy. It is Mr. Craig's policy to vary his repertory with an occasional new play, and he will give "Bachelors and Benedicts" with the certainty that it will not fail to please both because of its originality and its novelty. The plot of "Bachelors and Benedicts" is remarkably true to life, the action is spirited, and the dialogue is lively. It should keep the audience in continuous good spirits, and alert with smiles and laughter. The husband and the wife will be played by Mr. Carleton and Miss Olson, and in the other roles all the members of Mr. Craig's company will appear.

Executor and Trustee Declining Years

You appoint as your Executor and Trustee a man in whose honesty and integrity you repose the greatest confidence and for whose sound business sense you have great respect.

But have you disposed of this matter satisfactorily? One usually selects those as old as one's self or older. The years go by rapidly and while at your decade the man you selected might possess those same qualities of honesty and integrity yet at the same time entirely lack that same quality of sound business judgment.

By appointing this Company your Executor and Trustee you will guard against the possibility of having your estate administered by an individual whose powers of business insight have been robbed of their effectiveness by declining years.

MOTHER OF MISSIONS DEAD

Mrs. Clementina Butler, a Former Missionary, Dies At Her Newton Centre Home

Mrs. William Butler, aged 93, known throughout the country as "Mother Butler" and reputed to be the oldest missionary in the world, died at 3.30 last Friday afternoon at her home, 30 Crescent avenue, Newton Centre.

Mrs. Butler was the widow of the late Rev. William Butler, and the two spent practically their entire lives in preaching to the heathen in foreign countries.

With her at the time of her death were her two daughters, Miss Clementina Butler, with whom she made her home, and Mrs. William H. Thurber of Providence. Besides these two daughters, she is survived by a son, Rev. John Butler, who is at present in charge of the missions in Mexico which his parents founded.

Mrs. William Butler had a most interesting career during the 93 years of her life. Born of English parents on Irish soil on July 30, 1820, with strong religious influences to bear upon her, the little maiden became a devout church worker.

Her maiden name was Clementina Rowe, and the place of her birth was Wexford, Ire. When but a child past 10 years, she became immensely interested in missionary work, being made a collector in the Sunday school, which she attended for the missionaries, and always looked back with considerable interest to the $60 which she collected the first year.

Her wedding to Rev. William Butler did not occur until Nov. 23, 1855, he not being ordained to the ministry until after his arrival in this country. The wedding took place in Portland, Me., and later the couple removed to Lynn.

At this time Alexander Duff came to this country and pleaded with the Methodists to establish a mission in India. The sum of $7000 was pledged and Mr. and Mrs. Butler were chosen to establish the mission in an untouched part of India. The couple sailed on April 8, 1856, being the pioneer missionaries of the Methodist Episcopal Church in India. The mission which they established is now the largest in India, with the exception of that carried on by the Church Missionary Society of the Church of England.

The Butlers had chosen Bareilly, in Northern India for their home, and were just beginning their work when they were forced to flee at the outbreak of the Sepoy mutiny. Traveling day and night, through forests and jungles, in constant danger of wild beasts and from the treachery of natives, they finally reached a place of safety in the heart of the Himalayas.

Their hiding place was discovered, however, and they were forced to flee from place to place, until with the fall of Lucknow the mutiny was finally ended. Mrs. Butler was the only American woman who saw the horrors of this mutiny, when so many thousands of Europeans were slain.

After the country had quieted down Mr. and Mrs. Butler again took up their missionary work, and prosecuted it for

REVENGE IS SWEET

Upper Falls Defeat Y. M. C. A. In Return Game of Ball

The Newton Upper Falls Athletic Association ball team had sweet revenge last Saturday on the Newton Y. M. C. A., when it defeated that team on its own grounds, by a score of 3 to 0, thereby wiping out in part the defeat which Newton administered a few weeks ago. A crowd of over 1000 witnessed the game, which was won by the visitors principally by the fine pitching of Joe Fahey of Medford. All the putouts for the first seven innings were credits of the catcher and first baseman, and only two putouts were made by the other members of the team during the entire game. Bills pitched a good game for the Y. M. C. A. but his support was poor.

APPOINTMENTS CONFIRMED

Aldermen Discuss Appointment of Election Officers

The board of aldermen held its regular meeting Monday evening, the principal interest centering in the appointments for election officers to be made by Mayor Hatfield and which will be found printed in another column.

The board confirmed the entire list after Alderman Cox had held forth for a half hour or so on one of his mare's nest which he finds so often in matters coming up for action. Mr. Cox contended that the law said that the two leading parties should count the ballots and that the new method of having one Republican, one Democrat and two Progressives as inspectors would be contrary to law. In making this statement, the Alderman went so far as to say that the Progressives were in all respects the same as Republicans and that the new deal virtually gave the Republicans three counters to one Democrat. City Solicitor Slocum gave his opinion after a recess that Mr. Cox was mistaken and that all the law contemplated was that the ballots should be counted by two representatives of different parties. Alderman Cox was far from satisfied, but as he said he would defer to the opinion of the city solicitor, altho he might question the ruling of the chair, he would insist that the board cast a separate ballot on each of the 96 names submitted by the mayor. President Blakemore hesitated for some time, but finally ruled that Alderman Cox was within his rights to make this demand. As the board faced the proposition of taking 96 secret ballots, Alderman Cox relented a little and said that if he could be excused from voting, he would withdraw his motion. This opened a method of escape, but the vote to excuse him was close, 9 voting in favor to 7 against. The appointments were then unanimously confirmed with 16 favorable ballots.

Mayor Hatfield sent in the request of Street Commissioner for a transfer of $4000 he had saved in resurfacing Washington street. Petitions of James E. Graves for a common victualler license, Timothy D. Murphy for an auctioneer license, Harry Generoux for an automobile license, and the Telephone Co. for attachments on Elliot and Clark streets were granted. Petitions of Mullan et al

MIDDLESEX COUNTY COMMISSIONER

CHAS. A. WYMAN, Newton.
Hon. EDWARD H. WILSON, Newton.
Lt. Col. ROBT. HALL EDES, Sec'y, 29 Carleton St., Newton.

On Sept. 23rd the Republicans of this County will nominate by their votes at the Primaries the candidate of the party for this position.

Major Frederic P. Barnes of Newton, whose name will appear on the Republican ballot for this office, is a retired business man, a resident of Newton for over forty years, and endorsed by the business men of that city.

Major Barnes is not a politician, this being his first experience as a candidate for any office; he is not connected in any way with cliques or combinations, and if elected will conduct the office on business principles.

Republicans, attend the Primaries on Sept. 23rd and cast your votes for Major Barnes.

The nomination depends on the result of the votes at the Primaries.

BARLOW VS THE COUNTY RING

There seems to be a general feeling throughout Middlesex County that the County Commissioner to be nominated next Tuesday should be a man who is free from "County Ring" influence. Erson B. Barlow is the only man who has had the courage to openly oppose the ring, and this, combined with his fine record in the House and Senate, should entitle him to a wide preferential vote.

BIRTHDAY TEA

The initial festivity of the season for the New England Woman's Press Association was a birthday tea given for the members by Mrs. Charles Edmond Guild at her residence, 6 Walnut terrace, Newtonville.

Mrs. Myra B. Lbrd (president of the Association) presided at the table; the china and silver used were antique and the centre piece consisted of a shallow hoop-handled Braggville Basket of leaf brown which was very artistically decorated with cranberries pendant from their fern-like vines and filled with autumn fruits.

The rooms were attractively decorated with autumn flowers and ferns and the guests were presented with souvenirs.

Mrs. Guild wore her grandmother's wedding gown of lustrous old gold satin and was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Lulu S. Upham and Mrs. Alice Turner Nye.

NEWTON OPERA HOUSE

The cleanest minds of the country realized when motion pictures commenced to get popular that they might act as a great blessing or a greater curse to humanity, and before the latter possibility could become a reality the problem was met, grappled with and conquered. The result is the National Board of Censorship, which passes on the fitness of all films, thus assuring the most exacting parents that their children will gaze upon nothing harmful in picture shows where the films this board has passed upon are exhibited. The result is that those of the most refined, delicate and sensitive tastes may venture into many of the picture shows in Boston, assured that they will meet with nothing suggestive or offensive.

Fortunately for our city of Newton we have a first class theatre in the Newton Opera House where our best citizens and their families attend regularly. The management of this house see every picture before it is shown on the screen at their theatre, which accounts for the excellence of their program.

Gethsemane Commandery, Knight Templars, No. 35 have reserved seats for their members and lady friends for Tuesday evening, Sept. 30, when among other interesting features, will be shown the parade of the Knight Templars at Denver, Colo., showing the Gethsemane Commandery, in the parade.

MASSACHUSETTS NAUTICAL SCHOOL

The "Ranger" Homeward Bound

After a successful summer cruise in the North Atlantic and Mediterranean, with a complete corps of cadets, the "Ranger" is now cruising homeward under sail in the trade wind belt of the tropics. The ship will call at Bermuda before coming to Boston. The Massachusetts Nautical School offers practical and theoretical instruction in seamanship, navigation and marine engineering; it prepares for positions as officers in the American merchant marine. The course occupies two years, and includes two summer cruises in European waters. The new law requiring vessels of one thousand tons or more to carry an additional officer has extended the opportunities and increased the demand for graduates. The autumn entrance examination will be held about October 20th. Explanatory circulars are obtained from the Commissioners Massachusetts Nautical School, 2A Park Street, Boston.

A FISH FRY PICNIC

The summer colony at Lake Winnebago, which includes many residents of the Newtons, have some novel and original methods of entertaining their guests.

The latest innovation, one which has been very popular during the past season, is the "Fish Fry Picnic." The party starts in the morning on an all day fishing trip on the Lake, and after they have landed a good supply, they repair to the leafy glades of the forest, where a wood fire is built, the fish fried and served in a most appetizing manner, to suit the most epicurean taste.

Those who have partaken, say that a "table d'hote" is not "in it," with one of these rural repasts.

A well known summer resident at the Lake, entertained a party of thirty last week, at one of these delightful fish dinners.

BOSTON COLLEGE OPENS

Boston College opened Wednesday morning in its new home at University Heights, Chestnut Hill. It was an auspicious opening, with an enrollment of nearly 350 students, the largest number in the history of the college. The entering class numbers about 150. About half of the new students come from suburban High Schools and academies, and the remainder from the Boston College High School.

It is noteworthy that Sept. 17, the date of college opening, is the date on which Boston, for which the college is named, received its name.

The work of constructing the new athletic field on the college campus is well under way, and is expected to be completed in a few weeks. The football team has no home games during the first few weeks of the season and a portion of the land adjacent to the new field will be used for practice during that period. During the summer months the campus has been considerably improved in appearance.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE — There is but little doubt that the most popular of all the early season attractions in Boston will be Julia Sanderson in "The Sunshine Girl" at the Hollis St. Theatre, where that daintiest of musical comedy stars comes for a long engagement commencing Monday evening, Sept. 22. Miss Sanderson who has captivated playgoers in many useful musical entertainments such as "The Arcadians" and "The Siren" is coming to Boston this time as a star, Charles Frohman her manager having elevated the little artist to this high position last season when he produced "The Sunshine Girl" in New York where it scintillated and rivaled the orb it is named after, for over six months. "The Sunshine Girl" was written in collaboration by Cecil Raleigh and Paul Rubens and Mr. Rubens who is better known as a composer than a librettist wrote the score also. It is redundant with catchy numbers and is superior to either of Rubens' previous successes "Three Little Maids" and "Hook of Holland."

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE — "The Ninety and Nine," one of the most successful of romantic melodramas, will be John Craig's attraction at the Castle Square next week. Its author is Ramsay Morris, well known as a theatrical manager and dramatist, and he has chosen for his scenes the picturesque rural regions of Indiana. Its dialogue and incidents are filled with the rustic flavor that playgoers like so well. Its heroine is the belle of the village, and its hero a young man from New York, who proves himself a veritable hero before the play is over. When no one else will come forward, he volunteers and goes to the rescue of a town that is threatened by a prairie fire. This forms the most thrilling fire being realistically shown. The entire play will be well staged at the Castle Square, and the cast will include Mr. Craig's entire company.

MILK SPILLED

A milk team, owned and driven by C. J. Whitney of Waltham, was struck early Tuesday morning on Centre street, Newton, just as it came out of Richardson street, by an automobile owned by the E. Miller Company of Boston, and driven by J. Jones. The front of the auto was badly damaged, and 20 quarts of milk were knocked to the street. The drivers escaped injury.

MISS FRYE DEAD

Miss Susan Frye passed away on Sunday morning at the home of her brother, Mr. Theophilus Frye on Bridge street, after an illness of several months. Although a teacher in the public schools of Woburn, where she made her home, her frequent visits to Newton made for her many friends, to whom her cheerfulness was ever an inspiration and a benediction. She was a most successful teacher, being particularly fond of young folks. Her funeral service was held at the residence of her brother, Tuesday afternoon, and was conducted by Rev. Charles L. Merriam of the North Village Church. Mrs. Alice Worcester Weeks of Waltham sang "Still, Still With Thee," "On the Beautiful Hills," and "O Rest in the Lord." The

Crawford Ranges

Any iron worker can make a box with a fire in one end and call it a cooking stove.

It may in outward appearance impress you favorably — and — if you want a cooking stove merely to look at it may be satisfactory.

But — if you want a cooking stove that will cook your food perfectly, that banishes toil and trouble, that is so easy to manage and so sure in results that cooking becomes a joy — its name is Crawford.

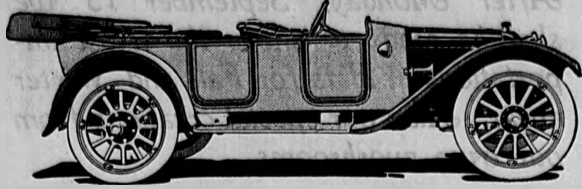

The Single Damper (patented) regulates better than two dampers; the curved Cup-Joint flues heat the oven in every part alike; there is an Ash Hod instead of the clumsy old ash pan. These are not found in any other range.

eight years. But a good beginning had been made, and when Mrs. Butler visited the country, and the scenes of her labor, in 1906, she found there 194,000 Methodist communicants among the natives.

Ill-health compelled Mr. Butler to leave India in 1865, and returning to this country he held pastorates in New England until 1873. In that year Mr. and Mrs. Butler were sent to Mexico to found Methodist missions in that country. Since the couple left Mexico their son Rev. John Butler, has taken charge.

Rev. Mr. Butler died in 1899. Mrs. Butler was also the founder of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, which she, together with seven other Boston women organized in 1869. It was she who had the first women's hospital founded in India and sent there the first woman physician. A $20,000 hospital has been erected at Baroda in her honor. She and Dr. Butler travelled in Europe also, and revisited both India and Mexico, the scenes of their early labors in missionary work, and were intensely gratified in their later years at the immense growth of the work.

It is said that Mrs. Butler was the only American woman to behold the last of the Grand Moguls in imprisonment. She was greatly interested in the recent Durbar, and told of her experiences at the Durbar in 1857. At that time she stood behind a curtain to witness the ceremonies, as women were not believed worthy to witness formal state functions. Mrs. Butler was present at the 50th jubilee in India, commemorating the founding of the Methodist mission there, and all the honors of the occasion were lavished upon her.

She has been active and keenly interested in progressive religious movements. At the age of 89 she addressed the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, and up to a month before her death was as bright and active as ever, her only difficulty being a slight deafness.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Newton Center Methodist Church and there was a large gathering of missionaries, members of religious societies and other friends to honor her memory. Eight clergymen took part in the services, which were in charge of Rev. George H. Parkinson pastor of the Church.

Rt. Rev. J. W. Hamilton, D. D. of Boston, and Rt. Rev. W. F. Thirkield, D. D. of New Orleans, who has been spending the summer on the South Shore, were the most noted of the clergymen who assisted. The others included Rev. W. E. Huntington, D. D., dean of the graduate school of Boston University; Rev. Laurens J. Birney, D. D., dean of the Boston University School of Theology; Rev. Dillon Bronson, D. D., superintendent of the Boston district; Rev. Fred Fisher, D. D., of New York City, secretary of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions; Rev. Edwin S. Nide, D. D. of Providence, R. I.

Bishop Thirkield, Dr. Bronson and Mr. Parkinson read from the Scriptures. Dean Huntington offered prayer and each of the clergymen paid tribute to Mrs. Butler's long service in her chosen field. During the services the congregation sang three of Mrs. Butler's favorite hymns: "She Loved Her Saviour," "Jesus, the Very Thought of Thee" and "Jerusalem, the Golden." Burial was in the Newton Cemetery; Rev. George H. Parkinson assumed charge of the committal service.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Charles Henry Burrage, who died last Friday night at his home, Suffolk road, Chestnut Hill, was in his eighty-ninth year, and had been retired from active business life for many years. He was a native of Leominster, born June 22, 1825, and was the son of Josiah and Ruth Kilburn Burrage. He was the youngest of thirteen children. His mother lived to be ninety-four years old. He came to Boston when under twenty years of age, and devoted his attention to the dry goods and woolen business and in course of time became a partner, first in the firm of Richardson, Burrage & Co., which was one of the leading dry goods houses of the time. His next association was with the firm of Wilkinson, Stetson & Co., then he was with Hill, Burrage & Co., and from 1858 to 1873 he was a member of the firm of Burrage Brothers & Co. of Franklin street. This was practically his last active business association. In early life he had been interested in the Free Soil party. Always an active Unitarian he had been treasurer of the American Unitarian Association and once was treasurer of the Benevolent Fraternity of Churches. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Mary Greene Hunt of Boston, to whom he was married in 1853. She died in 1861. His second wife was Miss Lydia Love of Philadelphia, to whom he was married in 1864. She survives him, as do Margaret C., Elsie A. and Paul B. Burrage, all children by the second wife; and George D. Burrage by the first marriage.

SMALL VOTE AT STATE PRIMARIES

Gardner and Burrill Lead the Republican Ticket Barry--Long Vote Close

The state primary held last Tuesday attracted scant attention from Newton voters, less than 20 per cent of the total vote being cast, the actual figures being 1403 of which 1122 were cast by Republicans, 185 by Democrats and 96 by the Progressives.

The returns were slow in coming in, ward 3, the last taking over six hours to count. The large number of names on the combined three tickets, and many new hands as election officers, being responsible for the delay. On the Republican ticket, Gardner carried the city almost three to one, having 810 votes to 279 for Col. Benton. Burrill for state treasurer, also led Kane, his opponent by 887 to 112. For County Commissioner, Major Fred P. Barnes of West Newton received a flattering vote in a field of six candidates, having 701 while his nearest competitor, ex-Senator Barlow of Lowell had but 104. Representatives Ellis, Bothfield and White were unanimously nominated and the rest of the Republican ticket was unopposed.

On the Democratic side, Long and Barry had a close fight, the former leading 93 to 86. For state treasurer, Mansfield had 96 to 51 for St. Cour. The remainder of the Democratic ticket was unopposed, the only addition to the printed ballot being the selection of William H. Magne as the third candidate for representative.

The Progressives cast but 96 votes and were unanimous in their selection of hand picked candidates. The results of the principal contests are given in a table in another column. Other candidates fared as follows:

Republican
Goetting, lieutenant-governor, 965; Kinney, secretary, 923; White, auditor, 846; Swift, attorney general, 956; Simpson, councillor, 935; Hilton, senator, 933; Bothfield, 956, Ellis, 944.

"COUNTY FAIR"

A Three Days Event To Be Held At West Newton

Little remains to be done except to put on the finishing touches to West Newton's big fair next week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The splendid interest in and enthusiasm of those who have participated in the undertaking is an insurance that the big event will be a big social and financial success.

During the past week the publicity committee has mailed to every home in the Newtons a very attractive poster-program setting forth in brief abstract a few of the more important events and when and where they are scheduled to take place. This is sure to pull a big crowd to the grounds as the attractions are of such a high class and the admission cost so reasonable that thousands of out of town people are almost certain to be found there. Especially is this likely to be true because of the conveniences that have been afforded for the comfort, entertainment and convenience of out of town guests.

Little has been said of the Tropical Exhibit which is to be one of the big attractions. Through the courtesy of the United Fruit Co. this exhibit promises to be one of the most picturesque of the many fascinating features of the fair. This company at considerable expense is importing from Colon and Jamaica many rare and beautiful tropical plants and fruits. Baskets, corals and articles peculiar to the tropics will be on exhibition and offered for sale.

The beautiful residence on the ground has been converted into a veritable hive of industry. All kinds of beautiful art works and artistic novelties will be here offered for sale while much time is being devoted to make the afternoon tea and supper rooms one of the strong attractions.

Through the courtesy of the city officials the fair management has been given permission to fence in Margin (Continued on Page 5)

LARGEST IN THE WORLD

South Station, Boston, Holds Record For Business

Although the Grand Central Terminal just completed in New York City is the largest railway station in this country in point of size, nevertheless Boston's South Station can still claim the distinction of being the busiest railway terminal on this continent, if not in the world, handling more trains, more people, more baggage and more mail every day than any other station.

Through these two great railroad terminals at the two ends of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad system there have passed in one year over 60,000,000 passengers, which is more than half the population of the United States. The New Haven shares the Grand Central with the New York Central road and the South Station with the Boston and Albany. Figures just compiled for the railroad year ending June 30, 1913 show that in that year 5,943,474 more people passed through the South Station than the Grand Central. The total number of passengers in and out of the South Station in that year on the New Haven lines was 28,347,399. The total passing in or out of the Grand Central was 22,403,295. This would mean a daily average for the South Station of 77,664 persons, while 61,379 persons would appear daily to use the Grand Central Terminal. The figures for the same period for the Boston and Albany in the South Station were 10,064,108.

Thus the total number of passengers in and out of the South Station for the year ending June 30, 1913 was 38,411,507.

In the number of trains handled each day the South Station also continues to be ahead of the Grand Central Station. Almost twice as many trains enter or leave the former as compared with the latter. It should be said by way of explanation, however, that the average number of cars to a train is greater at the Grand Central station than at the South station owing to the fact that the traffic of the South station is distributed over more lines.

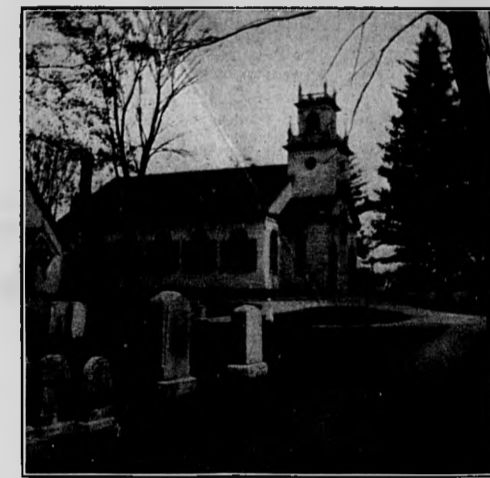

The number of trains entering and leaving the South station in the 24 hour period on week days is now 843. When the South station was opened in 1900, only 737 trains a day were handled. The number of week day trains handled at the Grand Central in the same period is 450. On Sundays the number at the South station is 328 and at the Grand Central 249. In the rush hour at the South station 91 trains leave in 60 minutes, which is more than twice the number operated from the Grand Central.

The figures for trains do not represent by any means the total train movement of engines and cars as it does not include the transfer movements to and from the storage yards. On week days, for example, at the South station, 372 empty trains are hauled into or out of the station and 345 engines without trains move in or (Continued on Page 8)

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.—A Seymour Brown, the famous song writer, will make his appearance at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week in a new and elaborate musical comedy written by himself and entitled "The Bachelor Dinner." As presented by Mr. Brown and his company of twenty-five singers, dancers and merrymakers, "The Bachelor Dinner" tells the story of a young bachelor who returns on the evening of his last day of single life to his apartment, and finds that his friends have arranged a surprise bachelor dinner, and invited all his comrades of Bohemian Days. This brilliant feature will be surrounded by a great vaudeville bill, including Goldberg, the famous cartoonist and creator of "I'm the Guy," Chuck Reisner and Henrietta Gores in their nonsensical skit, "It's Only a Show," Ward Brothers, the two English Johnnies, Jule Keates, the singing comedienne; the Pathé Weekly with the world news in pictures, and many others yet to be announced.

TREMONT TEMPLE.—On next Monday "Les Miserables," Victor Hugo's masterpiece, presented for the first time in this country, in motion pictures, will enter upon the fifth big picture of its engagement in Boston at the Tremont Temple. The popularity and interest in the production, increases with every performance. Significantly also, is that the performances are witnessed by distinguished audiences as one sees at the high-priced premiere of any play during the regular winter season. Practically the complete story of Hugo's vast human epic is told in this daring picture-play version, and the book itself seems to live in flesh and blood before one's eyes. Many of the scenes in which its action is played are the actual scenes, both in Paris and in the French countryside, described by Hugo himself, thus giving to the play a lifelike verisimilitude impossible to the conventional dramatic performance. The result is impressive almost beyond belief.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE.—George Arliss returns to the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, on next Monday, for an engagement of four weeks only, in Louis N. Parker's play "Disraeli." The remarkable success achieved by both star and play last season, when it ran at the Plymouth for nineteen consecutive weeks is still fresh in the minds of thousands of playgoers who witnessed the star's masterful characterization of the Great English statesman. No play produced in years is possessed of the charm of "Disraeli," which is destined to live for a long time to come. It is an extraordinary vehicle for Mr. Arliss' minute and vivid characterization of Disraeli in outer aspect, speech, mind and spirit playing through the diversified relations of private and public life. Disraeli is one of the most picturesque figures in modern English history and in Mr. Parker's brilliant comedy he shows the great statesman's efforts to secure control of the Suez canal for England, the intrigues that developed with the undertaking and through all a delightful love story. The production scenically is most attractive and interesting.

NEW LAW IN EFFECT

State and City Must Now Support Widows With Minor Children

Sept. 1st the new social welfare law intended to prevent the separation of widowed mothers from their little ones and to keep the family together until the children can begin to earn their living, went into operation. It adds a great burden of responsibility on the overseers of the poor, who in the first instance have to render substantial and financial aid to the mother and who must ascertain first whether she is worthy, whether she is fit to bring up her children. The law expressly stipulates that where a mother and her family are so assisted that they shall not be pauperized by the fact that they are receiving assistance from the overseers. The latter must make return of all such expenditures to the State board of charity, which will issue the necessary vouchers for reimbursement of the city from the treasury of the Commonwealth for one-third of the amount given. If the mother is a resident, but if she has no settlement, then the amount of aid shall be paid in full by the State.

The hope is to put an end to the distressing scenes often enacted at the State board of charity rooms when a worthy, loving mother is forced to leave the little one she cannot support to the board to place among strangers. It is the belief that it will cost no more and may cost less than it does at present, while the results obtained are expected to be far better for the mother and the children. It will prevent such an extreme case as occurred some time ago, where a brother and sister were separated in infancy, placed in different families and given different surnames. In that case, as testified to before the legislative committee that framed the law, the boy grew up in total ignorance of the fact that he had a sister, as did the girl that she had a brother. When they became of age they happened to be thrown into each other's society, became engaged and had made preparations for marriage, when somebody who knew the facts of their birth proved to them that they were brother and sister, which made their marriage impossible.

That sounds like romance, but it was testified to as an actual fact. That such cases are uncommon does not demonstrate that they cannot occur. They never can happen if this new law is administered as its framers intended it should be. The act which is chapter 763, acts of 1913, provides first that in every city or town, subject to its provisions, the overseers of the poor shall aid mothers with dependent children under 14 years of age, if such mothers are fit to bring up their children. The aid furnished shall be sufficient to enable the mothers to bring up their children properly in their own homes, and such mothers and their children shall not be deemed paupers by reason of receiving the aid afforded.

Before aiding any mother the overseers of the poor shall determine that the mother is fit to bring up her own children and that the other members of the household and the surroundings of the home are such as to make for good character, and that aid from the overseers is necessary to enable her to bring up her children properly, by making an immediate and careful inquiry, including the resources of the family, and the ability of its other members, if any, to work or otherwise to contribute to its support, the existing relatives able to assist the family, and of individuals, societies or agencies who may be interested therein.

The overseers shall take all lawful means to compel all persons bound to support the mother and her children to support them, and to enforce any other legal rights for their benefit. They shall press all members of the family who are able to work, other than the mother and dependent children, to secure work. The overseers shall try to secure work for them and shall secure all necessary aid for the mother and children which can be secured from relatives, organizations or individuals. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the overseers from giving prompt and suitable temporary aid hereunder, pending compliance with the requirements of this act. A detailed statement of expenses incurred under this portion of the act shall be rendered to the State board of charity, together with such certificates or other guarantees as the board may require.

The overseers of the poor, either by one of their own number or by their duly appointed agent, shall visit at least once in every three months, at their homes or other place or places where they may be living, each mother and her dependent children who are being aided financially or otherwise by the said overseers, and after each visit shall make and keep on file, as a part of their official records, a detailed statement of the condition of the home and family, and all other data which may assist them in determining the wisdom of the measures taken and the advisability of their continuance.

The overseers shall at least, once each year, reconsider the case of each mother and her dependent children with whom they are dealing, and enter their determination with the reason therefor on their official records.

This act shall apply to all mothers and their dependent children, whether or not they, or any of them, may have a settlement within the Commonwealth, who shall have resided in the Commonwealth not less than three years. No person shall acquire a settlement or be in process of acquiring a settlement while receiving aid hereunder.

The State board of charity shall hereafter, supervise the work done and measures taken by the overseers of the poor of the several cities and towns in respect to families in which there is one child or more under the age of 14, whether or not such a family or any member thereof has a settlement within the Commonwealth; and for this purpose may establish such rules relative to notice as they deem necessary, and may visit and inspect any or all families aided under this act. They shall have access to any records and any data kept by the overseers of the poor or their representatives relating to such aid. The board in its annual report to the Legislature shall report upon the work done by the overseers of the poor or by its own agents in respect to such families, any of whose members are without a legal settlement in this Commonwealth. They shall make a separate report on the work done by the overseers of the poor in respect to such families in which all the members have a legal settlement in the Commonwealth.

In respect to all mothers in receipt of aid under this act, the city or town rendering the aid shall be re-imbursed by the Commonwealth after the approval of the bills by the State board of charity, for one-third of the amount of aid given. If the mother so aided has no settlement, the city or town shall be re-imbursed for the total amount of the aid given after approval of the bills by the State board of charity. If the mother so aided has a legal settlement in another city or town two-thirds of the amount of such aid given may be recovered in an action of contract against the city or two liable therefor.

For the purpose of re-imbursing the cities and towns there shall be appropriated from the treasury of the Commonwealth the sum of $50,000 for the first year, from and after Sept. 1, 1913, which was last Monday, and on which day the law went into effect throughout the State.

TRUTH ABOUT THE MODERN DANCE

"Find out the truth about the one step before you try to deal with it. Get a realization of its fascination. Then you will think twice, and eke three times, before you try to wipe it out of existence in so far as the young persons for whom you have responsibility are concerned.

Next find out what its dangerous tendencies are. It has them, and you ought to know them. But you ought to know what they really are, not what somebody's imagination conjures them to be.

Then use your influence to the end that, at the dances attended by the young people you know, the one step, in whatever guise and under whatever name, shall be danced decently, wholesomely, and sanely.

This is the way one mother solved the problem. A group of girls forming a club were planning to give a dance. The mother of one of them invited them all to her house and had present an expert dancing teacher familiar with all the newest dances. By explanation and demonstration the teacher showed the girls how the dances should be danced and what should be avoided. A skillful and enthusiastic dancer herself, she was able to convince them that the right way to dance the turkey trot and its fellows was exactly as much fun as the wrong way, and much more satisfactory. She taught them not only the dangers of the new dances, but how to escape them. It is an admirable plan!"—Harold J. Howland in Suburban Life—The Country Magazine for October.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.—"A Butterfly on the Wheel" is one of the most stirring of modern times. It was a play for a whole season in London, and it had a long run in New York, and since then its fame has spread all over the world. A mixture of drama and comedy, it is a succession of alternately amusing and romantic scenes that are woven into a strong and convincing plot that keeps the audience steadily. Its central figures are a man and his wife and their mutual friend, and it involves the wife in difficulties that hold the interest of the audience to the very end. Plays to follow at the Castle Square are "A Temperance Town," "Madame Sherry" and "We the People."

MT. PLEASANT HOME

Attention is being called—through some of the papers—to the Fair in aid of The Mount Pleasant Home, Roxbury, to be held at the Woman's Club House in Dorchester, October 30 and 31 and November 1. There are certain very good reasons why Newton people should be interested in the event, quite apart from the fact that it is to aid a noble philanthropy.

A glance at the list of donors as tabulated in the last annual report of the Home reveals the names of many people of this town. The Home at the present time is caring for at least two of our former residents. As the institution is unrestricted as to birthplace or residence of its members, its sphere of usefulness is by no means limited to the neighborhood where its buildings stand.

Ladies of Newton as well as of Cambridge, Boston, Brookline, Dorchester and Roxbury have for a long time been actively at work in the interests of the Fair. Among these we may name Mrs. Robert W. Williamson and Mrs. James A. Neal of West Newton.

The Home practically owes its existence to the work done by the late Albert Metcalf and his wife Mary C. Metcalf, both of whom were among its incorporators, and who worked unceasingly and ardently in establishing it to fit the need it has since met. It is not too much to say that their fostering care, which never abated so long as they lived, is probably one of the most important factors in the growth of the Home from its most obscure beginnings.

To its present position of usefulness, no enlisted more of their time. The Superintendent has lately said that the Home can never attain a moral and spiritual excellence that can outreach their ideal for it. Mrs. Metcalf, in particular, placed foremost in importance the family spirit. It was her constant effort to encourage unselfishness and the residents of the Home, to surround them with the little nameless comforts of home which are so often lacking in an institution. It is the almost invariable testimony of visitors to the Home that its atmosphere is peculiarly kindly and sympathetic.

The Fair, which is the initial movement in a campaign to cancel the debt which the Home owes, will be up to date in every particular. People from all around are making novelties for its tables. Whists and other entertainments are being held in neighboring towns to increase its profits. Donations of money and of articles are solicited as well as patronage.

It is hoped that the people of Newton will respond to this opportunity to help a worthy cause. The Woman's Club House is easily reached from Dudley street and all who find their way there during the three days of the Fair will not only discover desirable purchases at a reasonable price but will be materially contributing toward the realization of a freedom from debt for which all workers of the Home are praying, and in the stimulation of which its best work awaits to be accomplished.

A DISTINCTIVE NUMBER

Always of unvarying interest, the Saturday, Oct. 4, edition of the Boston Evening Transcript will be read by thousands of persons with gratification and benefit because of the many specially written articles on a variety of interesting subjects which will be printed in it.

One particularly good illustrated article is on "Homes at Small Cost": About houses of seven and eight rooms for $4000; a similar group for $10,000, etc.

Anyone who has real estate, house or farm anywhere in New England to dispose of will find it advantageous to advertise in the Oct. 4 Boston Transcript, as this issue will have an exceedingly wide distribution and advertisers will receive satisfying results.

Many people who are not regular readers always look in the Transcript when they wish to buy or hire a house or farm, apartment, board or room, for they know that the largest lists of the better offerings are always printed there, as well as "want" advertisements of specially capable business assistants and good servants.

EDITORIAL

The present popular impression that the state primary methods are responsible for the light vote cast and for the indifference of the people to their duties in this respect, is not justified by the facts. The truth is, there is a larger vote cast under the present plan than under the old caucus system. Last year, the Republican party in Newton polled nearly 2000 votes at the primary, and this year about 1200. Reference to the number cast in previous years at the old caucuses, shows that in 1900, there were but 748 votes cast, in 1901 it dropped to 251, and in 1904, on account of the candidacy of John W. Weeks for Congress, it rose to 1460, but in 1906 it fell again to 881. The trouble now is not in the primary method, but in the reluctance of the average voter to vote at all. It is human nature under which he lives. It is human nature which needs correcting, not the principle behind the state wide primary. I am not an enthusiastic supporter of the primary plan, particularly on offices in which there is little popular interest, or where the districts are so large as to almost prohibit a poor man from running for office. I believe a smaller ballot should be the first step to be taken in this direction and that other desirable changes would naturally follow.

The result of the state primary, so far as it affected the fortunes of the Republican party, is a cause of satisfaction to those of us who believe the party should face the future, meet its problems with sanity and common sense, cut loose from a conservatism which only retards and join hands with all who believe in a reasonable progressiveness. Mr. Gardner has a great opportunity as well as the Republican party. Into his hands has been given the leadership and it is his duty to endeavor to unite all factions of the party, not to disrupt it further. In one sense he is right in taking the position that his friends should run the coming campaign and yet the party has elected its state committee, and that committee has certain functions to perform, and should do its duty regardless of Mr. Gardner's personal wishes. At the same time, every reasonable man will admit that the state committee, just elected should take hold of its duty at once, and that the campaign should not be in the hands of men elected a year ago. An effort should be made the coming winter to change the law in this respect and require the members elected at the September primary to assume their office on October 1st instead of January 1st.

With this issue, the Graphic enters upon its 41st volume, and I take this opportunity to express my thanks to all my friends, subscribers and advertisers who have given me such loyal support in my endeavor to produce a clean, interesting and reliable record of the events which are of interest to all of us here in Newton.

Lines are being gradually drawn with a view to selecting candidates for the municipal election to be held next December. Mr. Allison Burr will be unopposed for the Republican nomination for mayor and will, in all probability be elected to that office without much opposition. There promises to be several changes in the board of aldermen and possibly in the school committee.

G. T. INSTALLATION

New officers of Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templar, were publicly installed on Tuesday evening at the assembly in Masonic Building, Newtonville. There was also a reunion of the party which attended the recent triennial convocation at Denver, Col., and was a most interesting occasion.

The company numbered about 300 and included Grand Commander Frank L. Nagle, Grand Generalissimo Walter F. Modding, Grand Lecturer Isaac Chase, Past Commander Richard W. Smith of St. Bernard Commandery, Past Commander Warren P. Dudley of Cambridge Commandery, John Daniel of De Moynay Commandery, and delegations from Newton and Waltham R. A. Chapters, as well as the blue lodges in this city, Waltham and Watertown. Past Grand Commander William H. H. Soule, who has officiated on other occasions for Gethsemane, presided at the installation, having accepted the invitation to do so during the Denver trip. He was one of the Grand Commandery party in the Newton Templars' train. Before beginning the ceremony he made a pleasant allusion to the pilgrimage, referring to the agreeable associations formed and the happy outcome of the excursion. Past Commander Asa C. Jewett of Gethsemane was the acting grand warden and each received a floral testimonial from the new commander.

The organization for 1913-14 is as follows: Charles J. Shepard, EC; Edward P. Hatch, G; Austin H. Decatur, CG; George Breeden (PC); Rev. John Matteson, AP; C. W. Henderson, Jr., SW; George H. Parker, Walter W. Whitney, W. C. S. Chamberlain, Charles E. Conant, W. F. Ingraham, Christopher I. Flye, W. B. Livemore, F. W. Wetherbee, Arthur W. Porter, E. E. Snyder, Harry B. Knowles, Frank F. Cady, W. H. Barney, Paul C. Sykes, Charles E. Fogg, Augustus H. Foucar, Charles B. Galland, A. M. Miller, William T. Halliday, James O. Perkins, Edwin F. Ripley, George A. Bacon, Aaron C. Daniels and R. C. March.

After the instruction, the company was regaled by a buffet lunch and there was music by a woman's orchestra.

LARGE ENROLLMENT

From figures given out this week from the School Department it is learned that there are 7382 pupils enrolled in the public schools at present and that 131 more are expected. Of this number 5446 are in the grades, and 1906 in the various high schools. This is an increase of 193 in the high schools, 86 in the grades and a decrease of 24 in the kindergarten, making a net gain of 255 over the figures for last year.

The detailed figures by districts are as follows:—

PRACTICAL BUSINESS EXPERIENCE

The Laboratory of Business, conducted by Mr. Nathaniel C. Fowler, Jr., at the Burdett College, Boston, is receiving the hearty co-operation of our conservative, as well as progressive educators and business men. It is an innovation in commercial education, set in a practical, business-like, and office work are brought directly to the pupils by actual realistic demonstration, many of Boston's prominent business men taking part. Burdett College not only covers concrete business studies, stenography, typewriting, book-keeping, etc., but demonstrates to its pupils the application of business training, bringing the business office and business conditions directly to them, so that they do not enter their work inexperienced. Another new course, along original and practical lines, is that of Applied Business and Management, which presents the broad underlying principles of business. The public is cordially invited to call at the College, 18 Boylston Street, Boston, and inspect these new departments, as well as its general work. A handsome art catalog will be given free to any one who calls or writes for it.

GENERAL BARTLETT BETTER

General Charles W. Bartlett of Mill street, Newtonville, was taken suddenly ill last Tuesday noon while attending to some law business at the East Cambridge Court House. He was taken to the residence of a physician by his son, Alderman Joseph W. Bartlett of Waban and later removed to his home in Newtonville. Mr. Bartlett has been suffering from summer complaint, and insisted on attending to business when he ought not. His condition now is much improved.

DEATH OF MR. BRIMBLECOM

Mr. John Briard Brimblecom, a resident of this city for nearly forty years, passed away last Friday night after a long period of failing health. Mr. Brimblecom was a native and member of one of the oldest families of Marblehead, Mass., and was 85 years of age. For many years he was engaged in the provision business and was well known in Faneuil Hall Market of Boston during the fifties. Later he was in business for himself at Swampscott, until the effects of the great Boston fire compelled him to give up. Shortly afterwards he removed to Newton and for over 25 years was identified with the Brackett Market in this city. He retired from active business about ten years ago on account of lameness. While in Swampscott he was prominent in the establishment and building of a Baptist Church and was superintendent of its Sunday School for some years. He was a veteran Odd Fellow, joining Atlantic Lodge of Marblehead over 60 years ago, and he has been a member of Newton Lodge since its organization. He is survived by one son, John C. Brimblecom of this city. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, at the residence of his son on Breemore road, Newton, Rev. Harry Lutz of Channing Church, officiating. The Mendelssohn quartet sang "Abide With Me," "When the Mists Have Rolled Away" and "Nearer My God to Thee." The remains were cremated at Mt. Auburn, and the ashes taken to the family tomb in Marblehead.

CARD OF THANKS

I am deeply grateful to my associates in the Newton Fire Department and other friends, for the many expressions of sympathy which have been extended to me in my recent bereavement.

GEORGE S. HOLMES.

COLONIAL THEATRE—George M. Cohan, probably the most conspicuous figure the American stage has harbored in the last decade, will play his farewell engagement at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, commencing Monday night, Sept. 23rd, presenting at that time, and for four weeks following, his great big wholesome play "Broadway Jones" which was so successful in New York and Chicago last season. Mr. Cohan's frequent visits to Boston are always construed as events, but in view of his announced determination to quit the stage at the end of his present tour it is probable that the commodious Colonial Theatre will hardly be large enough to accommodate the crowds that will want to see him and say good-bye while enjoying the delight of "Broadway Jones" which is said to be the most enjoyable piece of theatrical writing Cohan has so far furnished the American stage. "Broadway Jones" ran almost all of last season at the George M. Cohan Theatre in New York and was then presented in Chicago, at the George M. Cohan Grand Opera House for three months. In both cities it was commended as a play that appealed for its laugh compelling qualities and for the cleanliness of its theme.

HULL—MARSH

Many relatives and friends attended the wedding of Miss Miriam Buckley Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Marsh of Newton, to Roger Benton Hull, formerly of Boston, and now legal investigator of public service corporations in Porto Rico, which was solemnized in the Central Church, Boston Tuesday evening by the Rev. D. Brewster Eddy, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Ford C. Ottomann of Stamford, uncle of the bride.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin completely covered with an embroidered white crepe shawl and wore a cap of point lace and a long tulle veil. Her bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Ellen S. Marsh, a sister of the bride, wore lavender champagne, covered with plaited chiffon, and a coatee of shadow lace. She carried a bouquet of dark and light lavender asters.

The bridesmaids, Misses Lillian P. Hull, a sister of the bridegroom; Inez and Doris Patterson of Boston, Alice Moffitt of New York, Valina Gillespie of Stamford and Laura Weaver of Albany, were dressed alike in pale green champagne covered with plaited chiffon of the same shade, lace coatees, and wore, as did the maid of honor, little Dutch caps of lace and carried bouquets of lavender asters.

The best man was David Bellamy of New York, Yale, '10, and the ushers were Dr. Donald B. Wells of New York, E. Barton Chapin of Boston, Arthur J. Ryan of New York, all classmates of the bridegroom, Yale, '07; Thurlow M. Gordon of Washington, D. C.; George P. Hyde of Boston, classmates of the bridegroom at the Harvard Law School, '11; Benton Bellamy of Wheeling, W. Va., Harvard, '04, Prof. Harry B. Jepson of Yale played the wedding music.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Newtonville avenue, Newton.

Dr. C. P. Duhols of the First Baptist Church of Boston will be the new faculty teacher of religious psychology. The entering class is the largest in the history of the institution.

ALCOHOL CHAT

There is a difference in Alcohol, but now and then there is a great difference, notably in the strength, purity, color, and odor. Some of the commercial Alcohol sold nowadays, upon being diluted to any extent, has a distinct flavor of molasses; another sort has an odor of fuel oil, more of it lacks strength, and as a consequence isn't worth what is charged for it. When you buy Graves' Grain Alcohol from your druggist in sealed bottles you get strength, purity, and lack of odor. Look for the firm name signature, Chester H. Graves & Sons over the cork on each bottle.

Would Aid Sericulture.

The judicious payment of bounties for fresh cocoons and spinning, and, above all, instruction in practical sericulture in elementary schools, as well as agricultural colleges, are today recommended as the most efficacious means of combating the decline of sericulture in France.

FURS FOR FASHIONABLE PEOPLE

Lamson & Hubbard Exhibit Evening Wraps Representing Season's Styles

Furs and evening wraps, many of them representative of the latest things in Parisian fashions, are now on exhibition at the establishment of Lamson & Hubbard, 92 Bedford street, where a large staff of salesmen exhibit the goods. The pieces, of which there is seemingly an endless variety, are shown in the company's Louis XVI show rooms, and although the opening only was on Monday hundreds of persons have availed themselves of the invitation to make an inspection of the exhibit. On the second floor are the small fur pieces, such as scarfs and muffs, and some of the combinations are most elegant. Here one may find pieces in the handsomest silver fox, fisher skins from Canada, Eastern mink, white and blue fox and any number of other skins. The floor above is largely devoted to fur garments and evening wraps of brocade trimmed with fur. It is noticeable that the style this season calls for unusually elaborate linings, most of them in figured brocades. Some of these fur garments are elaborately embroidered. Something that will certainly attract young women are the short coats of leopard or jaguar skins, which are more or less of a novelty. In a well-lighted adjoining room are the evening wraps, mostly in light tones of satin brocade or velvet, some of them of the most delicate texture, especially those in chiffon heavily embroidered. These all are set off with fur collar or cuffs or perhaps fur trimmed. In this same room are to be seen neck pieces of white fox dyed in such delicate tones as blue, pink or pale yellow, which are to be quite the fashion this winter. In a large apartment on the fourth floor the automobilist will find just the sort of coat he or she is looking for, as the apartment is filled with a large assortment of coon coats. For those who desire storm or rain coats there is a large variety from which to choose on the ground floor. This opening is the largest one ever held by Lamson & Hubbard, and the crowds testify not only to the standing of the firm, but to the high quality of the goods displayed.

out from the roundhouses, making a total train movement at the station of 1,560 trains and engines. The total train movement on week days at the Grand Central is 764.

In the year ending June 30, 226,391 more people departed from the Grand Central Terminal than arrived there, and there was an increase in the total number using the station of 824,674 over the previous year.

That the new Grand Central Terminal has hardly begun to do the business for which it was designed is shown by the fact that while approximately 62,000 people use it daily now the station when completed will have a capacity to handle 70,000 people in one hour.

Twenty-one tracks have still to be completed and put in use at the Grand Central Terminal, whereas all of the tracks at the South station in Boston are now in use with the exception of the two suburban loop tracks, whose operation must await the substitution of electricity for steam.

FRIDAY, AUGUST TWENTY-SECOND, 1913

Sloping green fields stretching away towards the arms of the busy village—great time-old willow clumps—a little wandering brook—blue, blue sky and fleecy clouds; and illuminating and transforming all the green world to glory, the bright yellow sun.

Such on this day in August was what in prose we call the Newton Centre playground, a natural garden spot for the hot life that daily goes scampering and rollicking over it in joyous glad celebration that one is young.

The kind controlling powers had ordained this to the crowning day of all the summer's play-work. From early morning shadows till the sun looked on from its golden setting to see the tired, happy children go trailing home there was a succession of contests for youths and maidens, thy tots and brassy lads.

Competition of individuals was enhanced by competitions of communities, and a girl or boy who strove for success won or lost it not for himself alone but for his own locality. A perishing spirit of sectional patriotism was a strong feature of the day. The laurels too were well won, for the contests were often close and exciting, and not easily did the victor win his prize.

Festive and gaily, the strains of the band set the feet to dancing as now and then an unusually irresistible bit came to the children's ears. At noon, in the bright groups, they lunched, scores of them—flocking together by feathery—green for Nonantum, orange for Upper Falls, red for the Highlands, old blue for Farlow Park, red white and blue for Lower Falls, navy blue for West Newton and pink for Newtonville, and yellow for Newton Centre, the band playing an accompaniment to their dancing spirits.

In the afternoon for the final contest, hundreds of grownup friends gathered to watch and cheer; His Honor, the Mayor, and the patronesses of the day sat in front of the band stand. There were plenty of bravos and hurrahs for the winners, and laughter and fun for the luckless ones who slipped on the sand; or, as fleetly to the goal, the little lassie lost her slipper, but yet sped on to win.

Certainly those who had patiently trained the girls of the different playgrounds for the competitive drills deserve great credit. The weird Indian camp-fire girls from Farlow Park; the orderly military girls from Upper Falls; the Newton Centre march with the darling little standard bearer for the pivot, were each in its way superbly given.

When all is said and done, nothing could surpass the long-to-be-remembered picture of a hundred dainty maidens in white, with scarves of their village colors, in the magical captivating Irish lilt. The poise of body, the trip of the toe, the toss of the head were all so perfect in rhythm and grace that one saw an embodied poem—a lyric of motion—a something one would catch in thought and hang in the halls of memory.

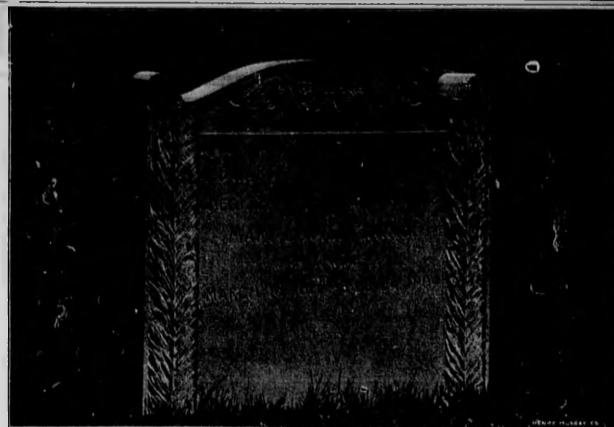

Those who had the privilege of sharing that day with the children are deeply grateful to the director and all his assistants and to those generous friends of the association who have made the playground possible.

In the prophesy of Zechariah of the New Jerusalem we read, "And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof." No vision of Heaven could be complete without the playing of little children. We pray "Thy Kingdom come on Earth as it is in Heaven." Let us unite to make this prayer come true.
